APPEALS AS TO MULTIPLE DWELLINGS

The Legislature, under Chapter 333 of 1948, has clarified Section 60 of the Multiple Dwelling Law by describing the agency authorized to grant variances under this Section, so as clearly to mean in New York City—the Board of Standards and Appeals.

Chapter 508 of 1948 has also been adopted by the Legislature, amending the Multiple Dwelling Law to provide, under new Section 310, for a Board of Appeals. By description the Board of Appeals means in New York City—the Board of Standards and Appeals. Section 310 is further amended by Chapter 805 of 1959 and provides as follows as to appeals:

LAWS OF NEW YORK—By Authority

Chapter 508 of 1948

§ 310. Board of appeals. 1. As used in this section "board" shall mean the agency of a city constituted as a board and authorized by law both to grant variances of the zoning resolution and to make rules supplemental to laws regulating construction, maintenance, use and area of buildings.

2. Where the compliance with the strict letter of this chapter causes any practical difficulties or any unnecessary hardships the board shall have the power, on satisfactory proof at a public hearing, provided the spirit and intent of this chapter are maintained and public health, safety and welfare preserved, and substantial justice done, to vary or modify any provision or requirement of this chapter, or any rule, regulation, supplementary regulation, ruling or order of the department with respect to the provisions of this chapter, as follows:

a. For multiple dwellings and buildings existing on July first, nineteen hundred forty-eight, provisions relating to:

- (1) Height and bulk;
- (2) Required open spaces;
- (3) Minimum dimensions of yards or courts;
- (4) Means of egress; or
- (5) Basements and cellars in dwellings erected on or after April twelfth, nineteen hundred one.

b. For multiple dwellings and buildings erected or to be erected after July first, nineteen hundred forty-eight, and such dwellings thereafter altered or to be altered, provisions relating to:

- (1) Required open spaces; or
- (2) Minimum dimensions of yards or courts.

Variations or modifications may be granted pursuant to this paragraph b only on condition that open areas for light and air are provided which are at least equivalent in area to those required by the applicable provisions of this chapter.

3. An application for such a variance or modification may be made by any person aggrieved or by the head of any public agency, within such time and under such procedure, conditions and rules as may be prescribed by the board. The board shall fix a reasonable time for the hearing of an application and shall require that due notice be given of the time and place of such hearing to the applicant and to the department. Any person or a duly authorized representative of any public agency may appear at any such hearing and be heard on any such application.

4. In every case the board shall state the reason or reasons for its decision. All decisions of the board shall be subject to review in the same manner as is provided by law for review of decisions of such board respecting variances of the zoning resolution.

5. A record of all decisions of the board, indexed according to the section or sections of this chapter affected thereby, shall be kept in the office of the board. Such record shall be open to public inspection at all times during business hours.

Fire Drill Rules, Adopted by the Board of Standards and Appeals, October 5, 1923

DEFINITION OF "FIRE DRILL"

The method and practice of the systematic and orderly vacating of a building by its occupants in case of emergency, panic or fire in the least possible time—by the nearest safe means of exit—and the use of fire appliances which shall be provided for the extinguishing or retarding of fire and the safeguarding of human life.

Rule 1.

In all buildings as defined in Article 1, Section 10 of the Labor Law in which fire drills are required pursuant to Section 279 thereof and in any other building in which such drills are required by the Fire Commissioner pursuant to the power conferred in section 491 of the New York City Charter, it shall be the duty of the owners, lessees or tenants to conduct fire drills monthly and at such other times as the Fire Commissioner may direct.

For the purpose of conducting such fire drills the owner or tenants shall appoint from among their employees such responsible and dependable persons, male or female, who shall efficiently perform the duties of the various positions of the fire drill organization, as specified on the accompanying chart.

It shall be the duty of the owner or tenant to enter in the blank spaces provided for that purpose in said chart the names of persons so selected and post said chart and copies of the rules in a conspicuous place.

Rule 2. Duties of Foreman.

The Foreman or Person in Charge shall direct, enforce and have full charge of the "Fire Drill" in every factory on each floor. Each day before work is begun he shall see that extinguishers, fire hose, fire buckets, etc., are in readiness for use, exit doors are unlocked, aisles are free from obstruction, that stairways, halls, etc., are properly lighted, and shall remedy any dangerous condition found to exist. Immediately after work is commenced he shall check up the Fire Drill Organization list and note if the regularly assigned persons are present; if any are found to be absent, he shall assign other employees (if practicable) to perform their duties.

He shall immediately notify new employees of the existence of the Fire Drill Organization and give them the necessary instructions as to the duties they are to perform, etc.

He shall be familiar with the operation and location of the interior alarm signal box on his floor.

He shall listen for the test signal each morning at the appointed hour and in the event of the test signal not being heard he shall communicate with the superintendent or other person in charge of the building and advise him of the fact. The (Floor Captain's) Foreman's orders are final as to the carrying out of the fire drill on his particular floor.

Rule 3. Duties of Watchmen.

The WATCHMEN shall see that all doors and windows are closed so as to prevent the spread of fire. The WATCHMEN shall be the only persons permitted to remain on the floor during the progress of a fire drill and do so at their own risk. For ordinary purposes only one watchman and a substitute shall be designated. In special cases, however, extra watchmen may be assigned by consent in writing from Fire Commissioner.

Rule 4. Duties of Searchers.

The MALE AND FEMALE SEARCHERS shall search all toilets, dressing rooms and emergency rooms used and frequented by their sex and all other portions of the floor and order all persons, except those authorized to remain, to leave the premises. They are to take care of and assist all persons who may faint or be disabled.

SEARCHERS shall leave the floor immediately after the last squad leaves.

Rule 5. Duties of Street Alarm Box Runner.

The STREET-ALARM-BOX-RUNNER shall be familiar with the location of the nearest city fire alarm box and know how it is operated.

In ordinary practice fire drills the STREET-ALARM-BOX-RUNNER shall report to the Foreman for orders, and if his services are not required he shall promptly file out of the premises with the other occupants.

Only when a fire actually occurs on his floor, or when ordered to do so by the Foreman, shall the STREET-ALARM-BOX-RUNNER proceed to the street alarm box and send in the fire alarm.

Rule 6. Duties of Fire Brigade.

The fire brigade shall have full charge of the operation of all auxiliary fire fighting apparatus and shall endeavor to extinguish, or at least hold in check until the arrival of the Fire Department, any fire that may occur. When it is necessary for the fire brigade to respond to different floors in the building they shall not use the stairways or fire escapes while the occupants are escaping from the premises.

Rule 7. Duties of Exit Guards.

The EXIT GUARDS shall station themselves at all exit doors leading to fire escapes, stairways, and other means of escape immediately upon the sounding of the alarm.

RULES

There shall be two guards for each exit, if practicable; one to stand in the hallway holding back the door and the other directly inside on the floor. They are to keep the exit doors open and direct the movements of the persons using these exits and prevent congestion.

EXIT GUARDS shall remain at their stations until all of the occupants of the building have passed their station. Then close their doors and pass out of the building. Upon signal for the occupants to return, EXIT GUARDS shall take their designated stations and remain there until all persons have returned to their respective floors.

Rule 8. Duties of Squad Monitors.

The SQUAD MONITORS, as soon as the alarm is sounded, shall see that the employees under their charge quickly form into line, two abreast, and numbering not more than thirty to each squad. They shall see that all aisles and passageways are cleared of obstructions.

Note: Chairs, stools, baskets, etc., should be pushed under or placed on top of work benches.

MONITORS shall proceed at the head of their respective squads to the exit assigned, and then march up or down the stairs or to other exits as directed by the EXIT GUARDS.

On reaching the sidewalk MONITORS shall keep their squads in order and lead them a reasonable distance from the building, so as not to cause congestion and interference with fire apparatus. When the proper signal is given they shall return to their respective floors at head of their squads.

MONITORS will at all times see that those under their charge conduct themselves in a respectable and orderly manner.

Rule 9. Holding of Drills.

FIRE DRILLS shall be held at least once each month at varied hours of the day, and all of the occupants shall participate therein simultaneously. Such drills shall conduct all occupants to a place of safety.

Where dual operation interior fire alarm systems are installed as permitted under Rule 10.1 of the interior fire alarm rules of the Board of Standards and Appeals, the fire drill conducted each month shall include all of the persons on the premises engaged at work for a factory, and drills shall be conducted at least twice, each year in which all of the persons on the premises shall participate simultaneously.

Rule 10. Duties of Owner.

It shall be the duty of the OWNER, LESSEE OR

TENANT OF THE BUILDING or his authorized agent or their representatives to personally observe that the "Fire Drill" is held simultaneously on every floor of the building and the participation therein of every occupant of such building. Any FIRE DRILL in which all of the occupants do not participate shall not be considered as complying with the LAW, except as otherwise provided in these rules.

The person or persons representing the OWNERS, LESSEE OR TENANT, who supervises the FIRE DRILL at the building shall submit to an examination by the Division of Fire Prevention as to their experience and general fitness for such duties, and shall be so certified in writing by the FIRE COMMISSIONER.

It shall be the duty of the ENGINEER, SUPERINTENDENT or other PERSON IN CHARGE of a building having an interior fire alarm system to test such system daily immediately after the beginning of business, and to see that all apparatus operated by springs, requiring winding are rewound after each alarm and kept in normal condition for operation.

Rule 11. Duties of Engineer.

Whenever it is necessary to test the fire alarm system at any other time of the day, owing to repairs, etc., being made, the PERSON IN CHARGE OF BUILDING will first notify all Foremen of the several floors of the intended test and likewise notify them when the repairs, etc. are completed. This precaution is taken to prevent confusion and excitement, also misunderstanding of the alarm signals.

It shall also be the duty of the PERSON IN CHARGE OF BUILDING to sound the interior alarm system at irregular intervals, but not less than once each calendar month, for the purpose of holding practice fire drills. He shall keep on the premises a record of such drills, showing the date when held and the required time for all occupants to reach the street or a point of safety outside the building.

The PERSON IN CHARGE OF BUILDING must immediately acquaint new tenants of the existence of the "Fire Drill" Organization and its purport.

Rule 12. Registration.

The name and address of every person, corporation or co-partnership, that will, under professional service, carry on the trade, business or calling of establishing, maintaining or supervising the "Fire Drill" shall be registered in the Fire Department, which Department shall, upon evidence of fitness, grant a certificate to that effect.

Fenestra Inc., New York, requested by letter that the resolution adopted December 16, 1947 and amended June 24, 1958 under Calendar Number 190-47-SM be amended so as to include additional Fenestra roof sections. The application was reopened by a vote of the Board, September 16, 1958.

USE: Steel roof deck.

DESCRIPTION: Fenestra Type E is made of steel sheet, the depth is 3" and the gauge is either 16 or 18. The LS roof deck is formed from 14, 16 or 18 gauge steel. The units consist of one piece single web section, with integral stiffening ribs formed in the top flange. At the ends of the deck units, vertical stiffening ribs are impressed as an integral part of the webs to provide web strength. The depth of the LS is 4½", 6" and 7½".

INSPECTION AND TEST: Tests were conducted in accordance with the requirements of C26-626.0 Administrative Building Code and the test was used as a check to determine if the designs complied with the requirements of the American Iron & Steel Institute for the Design of Light Gauge Steel Members. The tests were conducted by both Cornell University and Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory. The complete reports are on file with and are part of the record.

RECOMMENDATION: On the basis of the tests the Committee on Test recommends that the resolution adopted December 16, 1947 and amended through June 24, 1958 under Calendar Number 190-47-SM be amended so as to include Fenestra Type E roof deck 3" depth and in 16 and 18 gauge steel and the Type LS roof deck 4½", 6" & 7½" depth and made of 14, 16 or 18 gauge steel as the tests demonstrated that the deck complies with the requirements of the American Iron & Steel Institute Design for Light Gauge Steel Members, on condition that the requirements of the resolution adopted December 16, 1947 under Calendar Number 190-47-SM be complied with.

559-50-SM—Vols. I & II—Amendment to resolution as to additional Holorib Sections and additional forms of construction.

Fenestra Incorporated, Detroit, Michigan, requested that the resolution adopted February 5, 1952 and amended April 9, 1957 under Calendar Number 559-50-SM—Vols. I & II be amended so as to include additional Holorib Sections and additional forms of construction. The application was reopened by a vote of the Board, November 18, 1958.

USE: Floor and/or roof construction with or without fire protection.

DESCRIPTION: The requested section is known as 1½ER-16-18 and is made in 16, 18 and 20 and is basically the Holorib section, approved April 9, 1957 with a duct section known as Elect-Re-Forms. The duct section is basically a 16 or 18 gauge hat section that is shop welded to the Holorib section so that there are a maximum of three hat sections to a Holorib section.

INSPECTION AND TESTS: Load tests were conducted by the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory on the composite section in accordance with the requirements of C26-626.0 Administrative Building Code. These tests were conducted to demonstrate that the sections are designed according to engineering practice as recommended by the American Iron and Steel Institute in their Specifications for the Design of Light Gauge Steel Members. The secondary purpose of the tests was to determine the amount of deflection which would result under an equivalent uniform loading as determined by equating the deflection formulae, uniform and third point loading.

The sections were also tested at the Underwriters' Laboratory in conjunction with a 2½" thick reinforced concrete slab on top of the reinforcing forms and protected on the underside with Zonolite Vermiculite Plastic, previously approved. The section of floor known as the Elect-Re-Form is protected with 1" of the vermiculite plastic, except at the location junction units where the plastic is increased to a thickness of 1½ inches and this area under the junction units is approximately 3'-0" x 2'-0", the balance of the floor system is protected by a ¾" thick vermiculite plastic. In all instances the fireproofing is applied directly to the underside of the steel deck, following the contour of the deck.

The steel beam, used in conjunction with the system is fireproofed with a wire lath and vermiculite plaster. The plaster is applied to a thickness of 1-⅞" over the face of the lath.

The applicant has also submitted test reports of tests conducted by Cornell University to show that riv-clinching 3'-0" on centers is as efficient a means of joining adjacent sections as welding longitudinal joint 4'-0" on centers.

The complete reports are on file with and are part of the record.

RECOMMENDATION: The Committee on Test recommends that the resolution adopted February 5, 1952 and amended April 9, 1957 under Calendar Number 559-50-SM—Vols. I & II be amended so as to include the material Holorib in 20, 18 and 16 gauges and 1½ER-16-18 with loads and deflections as calculated by the manufacturer in accordance with the formulae set forth by the American Iron and Steel Institute in their Specifications for the Design of Light Gauge Steel Members, on condition that the requirements of the resolution adopted February 5, 1952 under Calendar Number 559-50-SM—Vol. I are complied with.

The Committee further recommends that these sections and steel beams used in conjunction with these sections to form a floor and/or roof system may be used as a three hour fire resistive floor and/or roof construction when fire protected as herein described and further that the sections may be riv-clinched 3'-0" on centers in lieu of longitudinal welding 4'-0" on centers but in all other respects the requirements of the resolution adopted February 5, 1952 and amended April 9, 1957 under Calendar Number 559-50-SM—Vols. I & II be complied with.

THE RESOLUTION—

WHEREAS, the report of a Committee on Test reads:
864-53-SM—Peco Automatic Hydraulic Sewer Valve, approval of.

Kordulak Brothers Inc., for Protection Equipment Company, Inc., Minnesota, filed November 13, 1953 an application with the Board of Standards and Appeals for approval of the Peco Automatic Hydraulic Sewer Valve under the provisions of C26-1240.0 and C26-1259.0 Administrative Building Code. The application was subject to dismissal but was removed from the dismissal list at the request of the applicant.

USE: An automatic valve installed in sewer line to prevent flooding basements.

DESCRIPTION: The casing or housing is of cast iron and all internal parts; the float chamber, sleeves, bearings and the hydraulic gate valve are of non-corrosive material. The device is also equipped with a 2" vent and a 1" atmospheric break (air-gap).

The operation is entirely automatic—As the sewage backs up into the building sewer line it causes a back pressure which lifts the float; this action in turn reverses the action of a four way Nicholson water valve which in turn permits city water pressure to be exerted against the top of a piston which causes the gate valve to close thereby closing off the sewerline. As soon as the sewage recedes, the float will drop down to its normal position which again reverses the action of the Nicholson water valve thus permitting city water pressure to be exerted against the bottom of the piston, thereby, allowing the gate valve to open to its normal open position.

INSPECTION AND TEST: The device was inspected and tested at 309 Communipaw Avenue, Jersey City, by Ass't. Engr. J. A. Darts and E. J. Ronan, Chief Plumbing Inspector, Department of Building and representatives of the applicant. Details of construction were checked against Dwg 17-D-110 and 17-C-138 which are on file with and are part of the record.

The device was tested by simulating various flood conditions and checking the operation of the valve. Additional tests were conducted to check the closing of the valve when various types of debris were introduced into the stream and by placing the debris directly under the valve; in all instances the valve closed and prevented back flow.

RECOMMENDATION: The Committee on Test recommends that, although the valve functioned as designed and prevented back flow, the application be disapproved as the wording of C26-1259.0 Administrative Building Code requires the valve to remain closed except when discharging waste and this valve is not so constructed.

THE RESOLUTION—

WHEREAS, the report of a Committee on Test reads:
342-56-SM—John S. Cole for Lexsuko Inc., Cleveland, Ohio, filed April 27, 1956 for approval of the material known as Lexsuko Roof Deck Construction consisting of Koroseal Vapor Barrier, Lexsuko Adhesive R907T and Lexsuko Insulation Clips under the provisions of C26-191.0 Administrative Building Code. The application was subject to dismissal for lack of prosecution November 17, 1959 but was removed from the dismissal list at the request of the applicant.

USE: To be used as a vapor seal on roof construction.

DESCRIPTION: Koroseal vapor barrier is a Koroseal flexible material .004 inches in thickness made by the Goodrich Company. The material will not support combustion, but chars and decomposes at a temperature of 350°.

The clips are a one piece heat treated steel fastener which can pierce steel deck up to 18 gauge. When driven through the deck, a positive locking tongue snaps into place on the underside of the deck to insure a permanent fastening.

The adhesive is a rubber base, non flammable liquid used for cementing the Koroseal onto the deck and also to seal the laps of the Koroseal. The adhesive has a bond strength of 100 p.s.i.

INSPECTION AND TEST: The material was tested at the Underwriters' Laboratories in conjunction with a steel deck and an accepted roof covering consisting of felt and tar and a gravel surfacing. The purpose of the test was to determine if this type of construction would contribute to the spread of fire within a building. The construction was found to be acceptable under the prescribed regulations, namely, flame spread on the underside of the steel deck should not exceed 10 feet in 10 minutes and 14 feet in 30 minutes. The results were as follows: 8 feet in 10 minutes and 11 feet in 30 minutes. The report, Underwriters' laboratory Retardant 4238 is on file and is part of the record.

RECOMMENDATION: The Committee on Test recommends the approval, for voluntary use, of the Lexsuko Roof Deck Construction, consisting of Koroseal Vapor Barrier, Lexsuko Adhesive R907T and Lexsuko Insulation Clips, in New York City under the provisions of C26-191.0 Administrative Building Code, as a vapor barrier on structural roofs on condition that the containers and/or cartons in which the material is marketed shall be tagged, stamped or labeled "Approved by the Board of Standards and Appeals for use in New York City under Calendar Number 342-56-SM".

Division, Milwaukee, Wisc., filed August 30, 1956 for approval of their Models 55R and 55L basic control in combination with 55ET, 55MT, 55MTS and 55EM automatic main gas control valves under the provisions of C26-191.0 and Article 12, Administrative Building Code.

USE: Automatic controls for gas burning appliances.

DESCRIPTION: The Model 55R control is made up of an adjustable pressure regulator, main and pilot shut offs, 100% automatic safety pilot and a large capacity pilot filter, all built into one body. This control is manually operated but may be converted to automatic operation. The 55R is intended for use with natural, manufactured or mixed gas.

The Model 55L control is to be used with liquefied petroleum gas and has no built-in pressure regulator.

The 55ET is the Model 55L control plus a low voltage wall mounted thermostat to control the flame. The control can be set to operate from high fire to off or from high fire to low by-pass flame.

The 55MT has a modulating thermostat. A small upright liquid charged thermobulb automatically modulates the flame between high and low fire, in response to temperature demands. This is a mechanical control, no wiring is used.

The 55MTS uses a sensitive thermobulb connected to the control by means of a capillary tube permitting remote control operation. It modulates the flame from high to low and snaps off when the low fire is not required.

The 55EM has a magnetic operator with snap action shut-off. It is available for 115 or 24 volts.

INSPECTION AND TEST: All details were examined by Ass't Engr. G. F. Sklenarik. The Model 55L and 55R were tested and approved by Underwriters' Laboratories. All controls described in this report were tested and approved by the American Gas Association and function on a closed electric circuit.

THE RESOLUTION—

WHEREAS, the report of a Committee on Test reads: 329-58-SA—A. D. T. Company, Inc., New York, N. Y., filed May 12, 1958 an application for approval of the Type 6120 Pressure Actuated Transmitter for use in New York City under the provisions of C26-1365.0-i Administrative Building Code.

USE: A waterflow detector—transmitter for sprinkler systems.

DESCRIPTION: The Type 6120 Pressure Actuated Transmitter is designed for use on wet pipe or dry pipe sprinkler systems equipped with alarm valves or dry pipe valves. Operating pressure settings range from 6 to 30 psi.

A rise in pressure causes a bellows assembly to distend releasing a pre-wound spring driven transmitter thus sending a coded signal.

The transmitter is available in 4 types.

The Type 6120 Pressure Actuated Transmitter sends an alarm signal over a circuit to central station, proprietary or local headquarters. It is equipped with local transfer contacts to operate a vibrating bell and/or annunciator.

The Type 6120-A is similar to the standard unit but has additional pen springs and a grounded signal wheel for transmitting coded signals to headquarters over a separate circuit. The unit operates at a slower than standard speed. By the action of two transfer contacts, local rewind signals may be transmitted or shunted out. This unit has no local contacts.

The Type 6120-GS provides a slow pulse on the local circuit for operating bells, horns etc. It has provision for shunting out local audible signals during rewind and local line shunt contacts to prevent coded signal clashes if two or more transmitters operate simultaneously. This unit has local transfer contacts to operate a vibrating bell and/or annunciator.

The Type 6120-D is similar to the Type 6120 except that it operates at a slower speed—16 to 18 seconds per revolution—and is designed to allow sufficient time for headquarters retransmission equipment to set up between rounds. This unit has local transfer contacts to operate a vibrating bell and/or annunciator.

INSPECTION AND TEST: This equipment was inspected at 155 Sixth Avenue, New York, by Ass't Engr. G. F. Sklenarik. These transmitters were tested and approved by the Underwriters' Laboratories, application 57K571.

RECOMMENDATION: The Committee recommends the approval of the ADT Type 6120, 6120-A, 6120-GS and 6120-D Pressure Actuated Transmitter in conjunction with a water flow alarm for use in New York City under the provisions of C26-1365.0-i and C26-1366.0 Administrative Building Code provided that each transmitter shall bear a label, permanently affixed, reading "Approved by the Board of Standards and Appeals for use in New York City under Calendar Number 329-58-SA".

Hempfling for Magic Chef, owner, Cleveland, Tennessee, filed June 15, 1959 for approval of Magic Chef, Kitchen Heater Gas Range, Models 8690, 8693, 8696, 9690 and 9696 also under the trade name of Dixie Domestic Ranges, Models 10KH-2L, 10KH-5L and 10KH-5LES for use in New York City under the provisions of Article 12, Administrative Building Code.

USE: Domestic Type Gas Heaters and Gas Ranges for cooking and heating.

DESCRIPTION: These are domestic type gas cooking ranges having four top burners with baking oven and broiler below at the right side. On the left side below the top burner section is installed a combustion chamber for a gas fired room heater. The chamber is fully sealed by welded construction and has an enamel finish. It is spaced from the walls of the surrounding compartment. The air to the heater is drawn in at the bottom of the compartment walls and the combustion chamber. The heated air is discharged through slotted openings in the left wall. The final section of the heater projects beyond the backwall of the range giving additional heat surface. Attached to this section is a flue connection with built-in draft diverter.

The room heater is equipped with cast iron slotted port burners. The heater has a maximum input of 35,000 BTU per hour natural gas (except manufactured gas, 30,000 BTU). The burner is ignited from a constant burning automatic pilot. Has a waist high thermostat control knob and has a 100% automatic shut-off valve.

The Dixie Domestic Ranges are identical to the above ranges, the major difference being only in the fact that the Dixie backguards are employed.

INSPECTION AND TEST: All data submitted was examined by Ass't. Architect T. W. Farricker. The ranges were tested and approved by the American Gas Association.

RECOMMENDATION: The Committee on Test recommends the approval of the Magic Chef, Kitchen Heater Gas Range, Models 8690, 8693, 8696, 9690 and 9996, also the Dixie Domestic Ranges, Models 10KH-2L, 10KH-5L and 10KH-5LES for use in New York City. The heater section is vented to the outer air and when installed in accordance with the provisions of Article 12, Administrative Building Code and the pertinent sections of the Multiple Dwelling Code and Multiple Dwelling Law, when applicable, provided each range shall bear a label, permanently affixed, reading "Approved by the Board of Standards and Appeals for use in New York City under Calendar Number 390-59-SA."

DEFINITION OF "FIRE DRILL"

The method and practice of the systematic and orderly vacating of a building by its occupants in case of emergency, panic or fire in the least possible time—by the nearest safe means of exit—and the use of fire appliances which shall be provided for the extinguishing or retarding of fire and the safeguarding of human life.

Rule 1.

For the purpose of conducting such fire drills the owner or tenants shall appoint from among their employees such responsible and dependable persons, male or female, who shall efficiently perform the duties of the various positions of the fire drill organization, as specified on the accompanying chart.

It shall be the duty of the owner or tenant to enter in the blank spaces provided for that purpose in said chart the names of persons so selected and post said chart and copies of the rules in a conspicuous place.

Rule 2. Duties of Foreman.

The Foreman or Person in Charge shall direct, enforce and have full charge of the "Fire Drill" in every factory on each floor. Each day before work is begun he shall see that extinguishers, fire hose, fire buckets, etc., are in readiness for use, exit doors are unlocked, aisles are free from obstruction, that stairways, halls, etc., are properly lighted, and shall remedy any dangerous condition found to exist. Immediately after work is commenced he shall check up the Fire Drill Organization list and note if the regularly assigned persons are present; if any are found to be absent, he shall assign other employees (if practicable) to perform their duties.

He shall immediately notify new employees of the existence of the Fire Drill Organization and give them the necessary instructions as to the duties they are to perform, etc.

He shall be familiar with the operation and location of the interior alarm signal box on his floor.

He shall listen for the test signal each morning at the appointed hour and in the event of the test signal not being heard he shall communicate with the superintendent or other person in charge of the building and advise him of the fact. The (Floor Captain's) Foreman's orders are final as to the carrying out of the fire drill on his particular floor.

Rule 3. Duties of Watchmen.

The WATCHMEN shall see that all doors and windows are closed so as to prevent the spread of fire. The WATCHMEN shall be the only persons permitted to remain on the floor during the progress of a fire drill and do so at their own risk. For ordinary purposes only one watchman and a substitute shall be designated. In special cases, however, extra watchmen may be assigned by consent in writing from Fire Commissioner.

Rule 4. Duties of Searchers.

The MALE AND FEMALE SEARCHERS shall search all toilets, dressing rooms and emergency rooms used and frequented by their sex and all other portions of the floor and order all persons, except those authorized to remain, to leave the premises. They are to take care of and assist all persons who may faint or be disabled.

SEARCHERS shall leave the floor immediately after the last squad leaves.

Rule 5. Duties of Street Alarm Box Runner.

The STREET-ALARM-BOX-RUNNER shall be familiar with the location of the nearest city fire alarm box and know how it is operated.

In ordinary practice fire drills the STREET-ALARM-BOX-RUNNER shall report to the Foreman for orders, and if his services are not required he shall promptly file out of the premises with the other occupants.

Only when a fire actually occurs on his floor, or when ordered to do so by the Foreman, shall the STREET-ALARM-BOX-RUNNER proceed to the street alarm box and send in the fire alarm.

Rule 6. Duties of Fire Brigade.

The fire brigade shall have full charge of the operation of all auxiliary fire fighting apparatus and shall endeavor to extinguish, or at least hold in check until the arrival of the Fire Department, any fire that may occur. When it is necessary for the fire brigade to respond to different floors in the building they shall not use the stairways or fire escapes while the occupants are escaping from the premises.

Rule 7. Duties of Exit Guards.

The EXIT GUARDS shall station themselves at all exit doors leading to fire escapes, stairways, and other means of escape immediately upon the sounding of the alarm.

There shall be two guards for each exit, if practicable; one to stand in the hallway holding back the door and the other directly inside on the floor. They are to keep the exit doors open and direct the movements of the persons using these exits and prevent congestion.

EXIT GUARDS shall remain at their stations until all of the occupants of the building have passed their station. Then close their doors and pass out of the building. Upon signal for the occupants to return, EXIT GUARDS shall take their designated stations and remain there until all persons have returned to their respective floors.

Rule 8. Duties of Squad Monitors.

The SQUAD MONITORS, as soon as the alarm is sounded, shall see that the employees under their charge quickly form into line, two abreast, and numbering not more than thirty to each squad. They shall see that all aisles and passageways are cleared of obstructions.

Note: Chairs, stools, baskets, etc., should be pushed under or placed on top of work benches.

MONITORS shall proceed at the head of their respective squads to the exit assigned, and then march up or down the stairs or to other exits as directed by the EXIT GUARDS.

On reaching the sidewalk MONITORS shall keep their squads in order and lead them a reasonable distance from the building, so as not to cause congestion and interference with fire apparatus. When the proper signal is given they shall return to their respective floors at head of their squads.

MONITORS will at all times see that those under their charge conduct themselves in a respectable and orderly manner.

Rule 9. Holding of Drills.

FIRE DRILLS shall be held at least once each month at varied hours of the day, and all of the occupants shall participate therein simultaneously. Such drills shall conduct all occupants to a place of safety.

Where dual operation interior fire alarm systems are installed as permitted under Rule 10.1 of the interior fire alarm rules of the Board of Standards and Appeals, the fire drill conducted each month shall include all of the persons on the premises engaged at work for a factory, and drills shall be conducted at least twice, each year in which all of the persons on the premises shall participate simultaneously.

Rule 10. Duties of Owner.

It shall be the duty of the OWNER, LESSEE OR

TENANT OF THE BUILDING or his authorized agent or their representatives to personally observe that the "Fire Drill" is held simultaneously on every floor of the building and the participation therein of every occupant of such building. Any FIRE DRILL in which all of the occupants do not participate shall not be considered as complying with the LAW, except as otherwise provided in these rules.

The person or persons representing the OWNERS, LESSEE OR TENANT, who supervises the FIRE DRILL at the building shall submit to an examination by the Division of Fire Prevention as to their experience and general fitness for such duties, and shall be so certified in writing by the FIRE COMMISSIONER.

It shall be the duty of the ENGINEER, SUPERINTENDENT or other PERSON IN CHARGE of a building having an interior fire alarm system to test such system daily immediately after the beginning of business, and to see that all apparatus operated by springs, requiring winding are rewound after each alarm and kept in normal condition for operation.

Rule 11. Duties of Engineer.

Whenever it is necessary to test the fire alarm system at any other time of the day, owing to repairs, etc., being made, the PERSON IN CHARGE OF BUILDING will first notify all Foremen of the several floors of the intended test and likewise notify them when the repairs, etc. are completed. This precaution is taken to prevent confusion and excitement, also misunderstanding of the alarm signals.

It shall also be the duty of the PERSON IN CHARGE OF BUILDING to sound the interior alarm system at irregular intervals, but not less than once each calendar month, for the purpose of holding practice fire drills. He shall keep on the premises a record of such drills, showing the date when held and the required time for all occupants to reach the street or a point of safety outside the building.

The PERSON IN CHARGE OF BUILDING must immediately acquaint new tenants of the existence of the "Fire Drill" Organization and its purport.

Rule 12. Registration.

The name and address of every person, corporation or co-partnership, that will, under professional service, carry on the trade, business or calling of establishing, maintaining or supervising the "Fire Drill" shall be registered in the Fire Department, which Department shall, upon evidence of fitness, grant a certificate to that effect.

ADOPTED BY THE BOARD OF STANDARDS AND APPEALS MAY 3, 1940. EFFECTIVE IN ACCORDANCE WITH SECTION 665, SUBDIVISION C, OF THE NEW YORK CITY CHARTER, MAY 27, 1940.

[Cal. No. 294-40-SR]

AUTHORITY:

Pursuant to the authority vested in the Board of Standards and Appeals by Section 666, paragraph 2, of the Charter of the City of New York and Section C26-721.0b (12.2) as amended by Local Law No. 170, approved November 14, 1939, and Section C19-16.1 Local Law No. 112, approved July 18, 1939.

1.0 SCOPE

These requirements apply to flameproofed combustible materials used for decorative or other purposes within special occupancy structures as defined in Section C26-715.0 (12.1.1) and other places of public assembly as provided in Section C19-161.0 which was amended by Local Law No. 112.

2.0 GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

It shall be unlawful for any person to use any decorations, drape, curtain or scenery used for artistic enhancement which is made of combustible material, unless painted or saturated with a non-combustible material or liquid otherwise rendered safe against fire to the satisfaction of the Fire Commissioner and in accordance with the requirements of these Rules, in any building of a public character, including a hotel, theatre, restaurant, public hall, department store, and a building used or intended to be used for purposes of public assembly, amusement or instruction, and a building where large numbers of persons congregate (See Section C19-161.1) except as exempted in Rule 7.

After flameproofing, such processing as ironing, sewing and normal handling shall have no detrimental effects on the treatment of the material.

3.0 APPROVAL OF MATERIALS AND METHODS USED IN FLAMEPROOFING TEXTILES, ETC.

3.1 No materials or methods for flameproofing combustible materials for use under these Rules shall be used unless approved by the Board.

4.0 FLAMEPROOFING PROPERTIES.

The flameproofed material, when subjected to the test described in Rule 5.0, shall meet the following requirements as to fire-retardant properties.

4.1 FLASHING—No flashing shall occur at any time on the length of the test specimen. A flashing due to fuzz or bad edges may be disregarded.

4.2 DURATION OF FLAME—The average continuation of flaming shall not exceed 3 seconds.

4.3 DURATION OF GLOW—The average continuation of glow at the edge of the charred area shall not exceed an additional twenty seconds after the cessation of flaming. Glow confined to the charred area may be disregarded.

5.0 TESTS.

Tests for each specific installation of originally treated combustible material, or any re-tests thereof, shall be made by the Fire Commissioner, or in a laboratory approved by him, in accordance with the requirements of these Rules.

5.1 SAMPLING FOR TEST SPECIMENS — Samples of each variety of material and for every kind of treatment shall be subjected to separate test. Samples shall be of sufficient size to furnish test specimens provided for in Rule 5.2. At least three samples shall be furnished for every 500 square feet or fraction thereof.

5.2 TEST SPECIMENS—Specimens for test shall be 2 in. wide and 12½ in. long and shall be numbered on one end. Test specimens shall be carefully cut from at least three different places in the material to provide a minimum of three test specimens from each material for testing.

5.3 CONDITIONING OF TEST SPECIMENS—The test samples or test specimens shall be dried for 24 hours in a room of average temperature of 70° F., with an average humidity of 40%.

5.4 TEST FOR PERMANENCE OF CHEMICALS—Test specimens shall be suspended by folding and pinning one-half inch of the numbered end over a horizontal 8-gauge wire, placed two inches above the center of a 7-inch opening in a 3-ft. wind tunnel arranged to deliver a wind velocity to the air, at the tunnel end, of 700 lineal feet, plus or minus 50 ft. per minute, as measured by a suitable anemometer on a line with the wire. In this position the test specimens shall be whipped for five minutes. Immediately upon conclusion of this test, the specimens shall be placed in a closed dry container until required for the flame test.

5.5 APPARATUS FOR FLAME TEST—The apparatus shall consist of a ring stand 20 inches high with an adjustable clamp housed in a metal shield 12 inches square and 20 inches high, opened in front and at both ends and a Bunsen or Tirrill gas burner which shall have a tube of ¾-inch inside diameter.

5.6 FLAME TEST—A whipped test specimen shall be taken from the closed container required in Rule 5.4 and suspended vertically with one-half inch of the numbered end in a clip held in a clamp on a ring stand so that the test specimen shall hang vertically within and near the center of the metal shield required in Rule 5.5. The lower end of the test specimen shall be three-quarters of an inch above the top of the gas burner on which the air supply is shut off completely and adjusted to give a luminous flame 1½ inches long. The flame shall be applied for 12 seconds, then withdrawn. The result of the test for duration of flame and duration of glow of the three test specimens shall each be averaged and recorded. Flashing, if any, shall be noted.

6.0 APPROVAL AND CERTIFICATION.

The approval of materials that have been flameproofed, as provided in Rule 1.0 and tested as required in Rule 5.0 with flameproofing properties as given in Rule 4.0 shall be limited to one year. An affidavit by the person, firm or corporation flameproofing the combustible materials shall be filed with the Fire Commissioner stating that the flameproofing compound and method complies with the approval of the Board, with calendar number thereof, and including the date of treatment and warranted period of effectiveness of the flameproofing.

6.1 The Fire Commissioner may require check tests at any time. Upon the termination of the approval, as provided for in Rule 6.0, a retest of the flameproofed combustible materials shall withstand to the following:

Flameproofed materials shall withstand a test of at least 400° F., as measured by a pyrometer, or other acceptable method, for approximately one-minute's duration by means of an open flame. Under such test, the flameproofed material shall not flash or support combustion and shall not glow outside of the char if a char is set up by the open flame. Material found not to conform to these requirements, shall be removed and replaced with materials conforming to the requirements of Rule 4.0.

THE RESOLUTION—

WHEREAS, a public hearing was held on this application on December 15, 1959 after due notice by publication in the Bulletin; laid over to January 12, 1960 for continued hearing; then laid over to January 26, 1960 for inspection and decision; hearing closed; and

WHEREAS, the decision of the Borough Superintendent, dated April 18, 1956 acting on N.B. Applic. 473-56, reads:

"1. Proposed gasoline service station, auto washing, lubrication, minor repairs with hand tools only, office and sale of auto accessories in a business zone is contrary to Article II, PP. 4a, subsections 29 and 46 of the Zoning Resolution.

"2. Show window within 75' of a Residence zone in a transition from Non-Residential to Residential zone is contrary to Art. II, PP. 7A of the Zoning Resolution.

"Note: Premises were subject of Bd. of Standards and Appeals action under Cal. #239-26-BZ, Vol. II." and

WHEREAS, this case was reopened for reconsideration, a new hearing, and the making of a new determination, in accordance with the Order of the Court, and hearings were held December 15, 1959 and January 12, 1960; and

WHEREAS, the hearing was closed on January 12, 1960, and the property and surrounding area were inspected by a committee of the Board; and

WHEREAS, the Board makes the following findings:

1. McDonald Avenue, on which the property fronts, is overshadowed from curb to curb by the elevated structure which has prevented its development for business or retail uses which may be more desirable than a gasoline station;

WHEREAS, the applicant states that the southerly portion of the building, having an area of 3131.5 square feet will be entirely separated from the rest of it by an unpierced fire wall extending through the roof; that the balance of the building, having an area of 15,650 square feet, will be used as a retail food supermarket by H. C. Bohack Co. Inc.; that the supermarket will be divided in two sections, a sales section having an area of 9,100 square feet and a service section having an area of 6,556 square feet; that the partition dividing these two sections will be constructed of Firecode 60, placed upon each side of a wood stud partition, running from the floor to the under side of the roof; that the entire building, including both the sales and service sections, will have a ceiling constructed of Firecode 60; that all of the openings in the partition, separating the sales and service sections, except three, will be equipped with fireproof self-closing doors of one-hour rating; that three openings not so equipped will be cased openings having only swinging doors, "cafe type," that is, relatively short doors having open spaces at the top and bottom; that each of these openings, however, will be protected by two sprinkler heads, one on each side of the partition, which will be connected to the domestic water supply line; that as a result the building will be divided by walls constructed of fire-resistant material into two sections, each of which will be less than the limits prescribed by the provisions of the Administrative Code referred to above; that the proposed building can be considered as fronting upon two streets; that the property in question fronts upon 159th Avenue but it has access to 158th Avenue as well; that the proposed building faces areas of substantial size on three sides, so that exit therefrom can be had to public highways either to the north or to the south; that it therefore, presents as safe a condition as a building fronting on two intersecting streets; that the size of the proposed building was dictated by the fact that soil conditions preclude the placing of a cellar under it; that normally H. C. Bohack Company, Inc. would have erected a one-story and cellar structure, occupying a considerably smaller ground area than the proposed building; that the cellar in such a building would be used for storage and as employees' dressing rooms, etc.; that because of the inability to install a cellar on the premises, however, the owner has been obliged to provide all of these facilities on the 1st floor of the building, thereby increasing the area beyond the limits permitted by the Administrative Code; and

WHEREAS, the premises was inspected by a committee of the Board in connection with Cal. No. 496-59-BZ and the committee recommended that the appeal be granted on condition.

Resolved, that the decision of the Borough Superintendent, dated July 16, 1959, acting on NB App. 1098-59 be and it hereby is modified and that the appeal be and it hereby is granted on condition that the work shall be done in accordance with drawings filed with this appeal dated July 24, 1959, three sheets, October 28, 1959, two sheets, and January 19, 1960, one sheet revised; that the concrete block partition shown on drawing revised January 19, 1960 shall extend to the underside of the roof boards; that all other laws, rules and regulations applicable shall be complied with other than as modified by resolution adopted this day under Cal. No. 496-59-BZ; and that a certificate of occupancy shall be obtained.

WHEREAS, the applicant states that the building is 101 feet and 110 feet 2 inches, by 100 feet in area, 16 stories and penthouse, 150 feet high, of class 1 construction, located in business use, B area, class 1½ height district, built in 1931, used and occupied as a multiple dwelling; that it is proposed to erect a new extension to this apartment house to the west on a plot having a frontage of 50 feet 1½ inches on Horatio Street and a depth of 87 feet 6 inches; that the proposed extension would cover 50 feet 1½ inches on the front and 57 feet 1½ inches in depth; that it will line up floor by floor with the existing apartment house, so that the new public hall and exits will serve one entire structure; that it is desired to erect this extension to the same height as the existing apartment house; that Objections A3 and A4, relating to the proposed height as contrary to Section 26 of the Multiple Dwelling Law; that Objection A5 relates to the westerly side lot line wall and Objection A8 relates to the distance from the exits; that a variation is requested so that the street walls may be erected to a height of 150 feet to the same heights as the existing building; that at the 17th floor which matches the pent house, the wall is set back 7 feet from street line to a height of 162 feet 3½ inches which is top of the steel of the existing pent house; that the proposed extension is within 84 feet 4½ inches from 8th Avenue; that directly to the west there is a 17 story apartment house now under construction; that directly opposite the proposed extension on the other side of Horatio Street is Jackson Square and to the north and west of this square is 8th Avenue; that there is thus provided for all practical purposes an open area of a total distance of 250 feet and from the corner of the existing building to 8th Avenue, there is 300 feet of open space; that it would therefore be a great hardship if the proposed extension could not be erected to the same height as the existing building; that the size of the proposed extension is small; that an independent structure on this frontage of 50 feet would be completely impractical and uneconomical; that the plot can only be utilized as an extension to the existing structure and forming part of same; that the present westerly wall of the existing building arises without any setback and it would be an unnecessary hardship to comply with Objection 5; that with reference to Objection A8, relating to horizontal access from every apartment, this egress has been provided on every floor, but the pent house, where the direct egress from public hall is 95 feet instead of 75 feet; that there has been provided additional egress, however, by doors opening out from living rooms to open terrace to the open air and from this terrace in the open air to the other stairway; that a ladder has been provided from the pent house roof of the existing pent house to the roof below which is the floor of the pent house; that this ladder gives access to the secondary stair; that inasmuch as the entire building is fireproof and there are no dangerous uses, but all residence apartments, it is requested that this egress be accepted as sufficient; and

INSPECTION AND TEST: Various tests were conducted on various size joists in accordance with the requirements of C26-519.0d Administrative Building Code at Lehigh University. The joists successfully met the test requirements.

Flexure tests were conducted in accordance with the requirements of C26-519.0 Administrative Building Code to determine that the maximum deflection shall not be greater than 1/360 of the span for the total designed load as determined by test. In all cases the joists were tested to maximum span.

Results were as follows:

| 20S8-V | 40'-2" span | 1.333                  | 1.220           |

The joists were also in shear to check the end reactions and successfully met the test.

The joists also successfully met the requirement of being able to sustain an 800 lb. concentrated load at one panel joint and the ability to transmit 500 lbs. from each joist to two adjoining joists.

The complete report is on file with and is part of the record.

RECOMMENDATION: On the basis of the tests and the data supplied by the applicant, the Committee on Test recommends the approval of the Bethlehem Open Web Steel Joists in sizes listed herein as having met the requirements of C-26-519.0.d and e for use in classes of construction as provided under C26-240, C26-241, C26-244 and C26-620.c.I.b., on condition that all welding performed shall be in accordance with the requirements of the Welding Rules of the Board, on condition that all requirements of C26-519.0 are complied with and further that if a suspended ceiling is used

THE RESOLUTION—

WHEREAS, the report of a Committee on Test reads:

155-59-SA—Philco Corporation, Phila., Pa., filed March 16, 1959 for approval of Philco-Bendix Automatic Commercial Washer, Models WC-9910 and WC-9910M for use in New York City under provisions of the Submerged Inlet Rules of the Board.

USE: The appliance is an automatic clothes washing machine having a capacity of 10 lbs.

DESCRIPTION: The appliance is designed for connection with the plumbing system through two hoses from the non-thermal mixing Type N-10 water inlet valve in the washer to two shut-off cocks which are interposed in the plumbing system. These shut-off cocks may be closed when the washer is not in use. The pump employed within the machine pumps drain the water to an adjacent drain outlet.

Water is admitted to the washer through the two-solenoid non-thermostatic inlet and mixing valve allowing three different water temperatures to be selected; hot, warm or cold. When hot water is selected, only the hot water solenoid is energized. The energized solenoid is an electro-magnet that pulls back a plunger which releases a rubber seat allowing water to flow. When the coil is de-energized, a spring acts in the opposite direction to push a plunger back against the seat. When warm water is selected, both the hot and cold solenoids are energized, to allow both hot and cold water to flow and mix together into warm water.

When cold water is selected, only the cold water solenoid is energized. When the incoming water reaches a predetermined level, a pressure switch comes into operation and shuts-off the incoming water. The water is conducted through a ½ inch rubber hose into a ¾ inch spray tube to which the hose is clamped. The spray tube is an integral part of the bracket which is secured to the washer frame. Attached to the same bracket is the receiver tube that is securely and positively located to which the spray tube and nozzle is attached thereby maintaining a minimum of 1¾ inch air gap.

The balance of the machine is similar to the 16 lb. machine approved by the Board for the same manufacturer except that the parts are of a smaller size in order to handle a 10 lb. load.

INSPECTION AND TEST: All details of construction were examined by Ass't. Architect T. W. Farricker, and it was noted that the air gap complied with the requirements of the Submerged Inlet Rules of the Board.

RECOMMENDATION: The Committee on Test recommends that the Philco-Bendix Automatic Commercial Washer, Models WC-9910 and WC-9910M having a capacity of 10 lbs. be approved for use in New York City where permitted by the Zoning Law when constructed as herein described and when an air gap of at least 1 inch is maintained and when installed in accordance with the requirements of the Submerged Inlet Rules of the Board and further that all appliances bear a label, permanently affixed, reading "Approved by the Board of Standards and Appeals for use in New York City under Calendar Number 155-59-SA."

4. Specification for Spray Booths, Spray Rooms, Dip and Immersing Rooms, Drying Equipment and Material Storage Rooms.

- 4.1.1 Spray, dip and immersing rooms shall be enclosed on all sides with partitions constructed of incombustible materials with floors in such rooms of concrete. Where such rooms are located over wooden floors, such wooden floors shall be surfaced with 1" of grout adequately reinforced or a mixture of Portland cement, [asphalt] and sand similarly reinforced. Ceilings over such rooms shall be protected by  $\frac{5}{8}$ " unsanded gypsum plaster or  $\frac{7}{8}$ " of cement or sanded gypsum plaster on approved 3.0 lb. metal lath or other equivalent fire resisting ceiling protection. Ventilation, lighting and heating for these rooms shall comply with the requirements of these rules. Where additional fire fighting equipment is necessary such equipment shall be furnished in accordance with the direction of the Fire Commissioner. Floor drains leading to the house draining system or the public sewer shall not be permitted. [All] Dip tanks shall be provided with hinged metal covers held open by a fusible link, such covers to be equipped with an opening to permit automatic flooding of the tank with fire extinguishing media of a type and so located as the Fire Commissioner shall direct. Where the work process, such as conveyorized operation, makes the use of a cover impractical, the dip tank and drain boards shall be protected by an adequate extinguishing system designed for manual and automatic operation satisfactory to the Fire Commissioner and such conveyor shall be interlocked with the extinguishing system so that in the event the extinguishing system is activated, the conveyor action shall be stopped.

MINUTES

4.3 Drying Equipment.

- 4.3.1 Gas Fired Drying Ovens. Gas fired drying ovens shall be of a type as approved by the Board. Such ovens shall be constructed of metal and incombustible materials so designed as to preclude the direct application of flame to the materials in process. [The exhausts from both the heating compartments and the drying compartment shall be individually equipped with adequate fans and exhaust piping connected directly to the outer air]. Ventilation shall be provided for each oven of sufficient capacity to maintain an oven vapor concentration at all times during the drying process of less than  $\frac{1}{4}$  the low explosive limit of the solvent used. All oven openings shall be maintained at a negative pressure relative to room pressure for inward flow. The controls for the safety exhaust and recirculating fans shall be [so] properly interlocked with the gas supply line so that when the gas is flowing the fans are in operation. A time delay relay shall be installed to provide a minimum of four oven volume changes with fresh air and in the case of an indirect fired type of oven simultaneous purging of the combustion chamber before the ignition system can be energized and gas flow started. [An extra switch shall be provided to permit the operation of the fans when the gas supply is off]. Each oven shall be equipped with [approved] gas burning equipment approved for such use and with electrical controls so arranged as to shut off the gas valve when ignition fails or the gas supply pressure drops to 2 inches of water.

The use of a continuous gas pilot light is prohibited unless an automatic gas shut off valve is provided which will shut the gas off at the pilot light when the flame is extinguished or the supply of gas cut off. Electrical pilot ignition shall be of the continuous type or equal in performance, designed for use in high temperatures, with controls so interlocked as to shut off the gas supply when current is interrupted. An auxiliary manually operated gas shut off valve shall be located not nearer than 25 feet from the oven so as to control the gas supply in the event of an emergency. Such ovens shall be adequately insulated on all sides and top to limit the maximum surface temperature to  $140^{\circ}\text{F}$  and to  $160^{\circ}\text{F}$  on [including] the base, [which shall have the equivalent of a double thickness of such insulation] unless the floor is protected by a 3 inch mat of reinforced concrete placed over and bonded into the existing concrete floor and projecting not less than 6 inches outside the projected area of the equipment or unless an unenclosed clear air space not less than 4 inches above the concrete floor is maintained between the floor and the underside of the oven.

- 4.3.1.1 The burner section of gas fired drying ovens shall not be located nearer than 25 feet from spraying or dipping spaces except when separated by fire proof construction, in which case the distance between burner section and spray or dip space shall be not less than 25 feet measured in the shortest line of travel. [unless such oven is approved for use in explosive atmospheres].

4.3.2 Electric Infra-red Ray Drying Ovens.

- 4.3.2.1.1 In drying processed material involving the evaporation of considerable amounts of flammable solvents by infra-red lamps, such installations shall not be confined in small rooms unless such rooms are thoroughly ventilated by a power driven ventilation system of sufficient capacity to [provide 100 linear feet of air per minute] maintain a vapor concentration at all times during the drying process of less than  $\frac{1}{4}$  the low explosive limit of the solvent used; the controls of the ventilation system to be so interlocked with the Infra-Red Ray System that the latter cannot function unless the ventilating system is in operation. INSPECTION AND TESTS: Various tests were conducted on various size joists at the Engineering Laboratory of Washington University in accordance with the requirements of C26-519.0.d Administrative Building Code.

Flexure tests were conducted in accordance with the requirements of C26-519.0 Administrative Building Code to determine that the maximum deflection shall not be greater than 1/360 of the span for the total designed load as determined by test. In all cases the joists were tested to maximum span.

Results were as follows:

| Joist | Moment in lbs. | Theo. Deflection | Load Deflection |
|-------|----------------|------------------|-----------------|
| 8S2   | 52,500         | .543             | .450            |
| 12S4  | 125,000        | .791             | .592            |
| 20S7  | 358,000        | 1.325            | 1.070           |

The joists were also tested in shear to test the end reactions and the joists successfully met the tests.

Additional tests were conducted to determine compliance with C26-519.0.e and the joists successfully met the requirements of being able to sustain an 800 lb. concentrated load at one panel point and also the ability to transmit 500 lbs. from each joist to two adjoining joists.

RECOMMENDATION: On the basis of the tests and the data supplied by the applicant, the Committee on Test recommends the approval of the Laclede "S" Series Steel Joists in sizes listed herein as having met the requirements of C26-519.0.d and e for use in classes of construction as provided under C26-240, C26-241., C26-244 and C26-620.c.I.b., on condition that all welding performed shall be in accordance with the requirements of the Welding Rules of the Board, on condition that all requirements of C26-519.0 are complied with and further that if a suspended ceiling is used in conjunction with the joists the ceiling shall comply with the requirements of C26-461. and that all joists shall be fastened and permanently bridged before construction or other loads are applied; that ceiling or floor openings not exceeding 4 feet in either direction at right angles to the joists may be framed by adequately proportioned header angles secured to framing joists by bolts or welds, provided the joists are designed to carry the concentrated loads and provided that each bundle of joists shall be identified as to dimensions and shall bear a label "Approved for use in New York City under Calendar Number 569-38-SM" and further that all plans submitted to the Department of Buildings showing the proposed use of these joists shall be similarly marked.

THE RESOLUTION—

WHEREAS, the report of a Committee on Test reads:
72-59-SM—Amendment to resolution as to additional form of construction.

Armstrong Cork Company, New York, requested that the resolution adopted June 2, 1959 and amended October 14, 1959 under Calendar Number 72-59-SM be reopened and amended so as to include an additional form of construction.

USE: The material is to be used as a one hour fire resistive ceiling and floor construction.

DESCRIPTION: The material is a mineral wool acoustical tile, 5/8 inches in thickness used in conjunction with wood joists, and wood floor to afford a one hour fire resistive floor and ceiling.

INSPECTION AND TEST: The construction was successfully tested at the Underwriters' Laboratory under the provisions of C26-599.0 Administrative Building Code.

The wood joists were spaced 16" on centers and bridged by cross bridging of 1" x 3" pine. A subflooring of 1" x 6" T & G was then laid on top of the joists. On top of the subflooring, building paper and finally 1" x 4" T & G finish floor were then laid on top of the subflooring.

On the ceiling side, nailing clips were nailed to every third joist; 12" on center and the Zee runners were then attached to the nailing clips and so positioned that the runner bore against the underside of the joists. The 5/8" tile is then installed by inserting the flange of the ZEE runner into the kerf of the tile; the tiles are supported by the tongue and groove design and the Zee runner.

The system during the fire test was loaded to 70 lbs. per sq. ft. during the fire test. The test was discontinued at 1 hour 2 minutes at which time the average surface temperature was 140° which was well below the limit of 331° and the deflection was 3". The complete report of the Underwriters' Laboratory R-4177-4 is on file with and is part of the record.

RECOMMENDATION: On the basis of the test, the Committee on Test recommends that the resolution adopted June 2, 1959 and amended October 14, 1959 under Calendar Number 72-59-SM be reopened and amended so as to include the additional form of construction as herein described for use in New York City as a one hour fire resistive floor and ceiling construction, on condition that the requirements of the resolution adopted June 2, 1959 under Calendar Number 72-59-SM are complied with

WHEREAS, the report of a Committee on Test reads:
321-59-SA—ADT Company, Inc., New York, N. Y. filed May 8, 1959 for approval of their Smoke Detection System, Model B-3501 under the provisions of C26-661.0, C26-664.1 and C26-259.0 of the Administrative Building Code.

USE: A smoke detector for ventilation ducts.

DESCRIPTION: The B-3501 Smoke Detection System includes an adjustable smoke detector of the projected beam type in which interruption of the light beam by smoke can be made to sound an alarm and/or shut down blower fans used in ventilating or air conditioning systems.

The B-3501 system consists mainly of a means for projecting a light beam across the monitor duct space to a receiver unit which converts the light received into an electric current. A decrease in this current caused by a reduction in the light received unbalances a bridge type circuit on the control panel which can be made to start an alarm or stop ventilating fans. This system will also transmit a trouble signal in the event of power failure or protracted line voltage dip, breakdown of a major component or an open circuit in the connection wiring. This system is used with an externally installed constant voltage transformer.

INSPECTION AND TEST: The device was inspected and tested at 155 Sixth Avenue, by Asst. Engr. G. F. Sklenarik. It was noted that the smoke detection could be adjusted so as not to function unless smoke concentration exceeds 4%.

519-58-SA—Vic Manufacturing Co., Minneapolis, Minnesota, filed September 4, 1958 for approval of the Vic Century, Model 42A and Vic Komet, Model 105, Single and Double Bath and Vic Recovery Tumbler, Models 64 and 78 under the provisions of C26-178.0 Administrative Building Code and the Dry Cleaning Rules of the Board.

USE: Dry Cleaning Units using perchlorethylene as a solvent.

DESCRIPTION: The Vic Century, Model 42A and the Vic Komet, Model 105, are dry cleaning systems which provide a closed unit for the handling of the cleaning solvent, perchlorethylene. Each system has a total capacity of 400 gallons. The Model 105 has a filtering capacity of 3000 gallons per hour and a pumping capacity of 65 gallons per minute. The Model 42A has a filtering capacity of 5000 gallons per hour and a pumping capacity of 80 gallons per minute.

Each of the units consist of the following parts: Frame, Storage tank, Pump, Washer-Extractor, Button and Lint trap, Motors, Switches, Valves, Transformers, Electrically Operated Door Lock, Sight Glass, Pipe and Fittings.

The washing cylinder of the Model 105 is made of 14 gauge stainless steel and is 40 inches diameter by 20 inches deep and under the Rules of the Board the capacity figures to 40 pounds of dry clothes.

The washing cylinder of the Model 42A is made of 14 gauge and 12 gauge stainless steel and 45 inches diameter by 28 inches deep and under the Rules of the Board the capacity figures to 67 pounds of dry clothes.

The doors of the cylinder is synchronized with the door of the outer shell and the door of the outer shell is automatically locked electrically when the cylinder is in motion and the cylinder cannot be started unless the door on the outer shell is closed.

The storage tank is located at the bottom of the machine assembly and is made of 1/4-inch steel. A pump drives the solvent from the storage tank to the filter. The solvent is pumped through a manifold into each filter unit and after being filtered is drawn into either the cylinder or storage tank; this flow is controlled by means of by pass valves.

The filter body is constructed of 10 gauge steel and consists of a series of nylon covered metal screens for the Model 42A. The filter in the 105 is a tubular filter made of monel metal screen.

The Vic Model 64 and Vic Model 78 are Recovery Tumblers and are used to recover all the remaining solvent from the clothes that have washed and extracted in a dry cleaning unit.

In operation, after the garments have been washed, they are transferred to the Recovery Tumbler where the remaining solvent is removed from the garments by the circulation of hot air which causes the remaining solvent to be vaporized; this solvent is then condensed and recovered.

The recovery unit is equipped with a safety switch which shuts off the tumbling action when the door is in an open position. The loading door cannot be opened unless the damper which allows air to be drawn in and exhausted to the exterior is in an open or exhaust position.

INSPECTION AND TEST: Details of construction were examined by Asst. Engr. J. A. Darts and it was noted that the equipment is similar to previous equipment approved for the same applicant.

RECOMMENDATION: The Committee on Test recommends the approval of the Vic Century, Model 42A, Vic Komet, Model 105, Single and Double Bath and the Vic Recovery Tumbler, Models 64 and 78 for use in New York City in accordance with this report, the Board's Rules Covering Cleaning Establishments and when installed in accordance with the Electrical Code of the City of New York and further that each appliance bear a label permanently affixed, reading "Approved by the Board of Standards and Appeals for use in New York City under Calendar Number 519-58-SA", and further that the manufacturer shall label the machine indicating its capacity in pounds; letters at least 1 inch high.

USE: To store liquefied oxygen, nitrogen or argon and to supply such gases under pressure to distribution systems.

DESCRIPTION: The Airco Liquid Gas System storage vessel consists of a liquid container fabricated of stainless steel or other metal suitable for low temperature service that will meet the impact test requirements of the ASME code and is surrounded by an outer steel jacket with space between the two vessels filled with a non-combustible insulating material. The insulating space is under vacuum.

The liquid container is designed and constructed in accordance with the ASME Unfired Pressure Vessel Code. It is inspected by an inspector holding a commission with the National Board of Boiler and Pressure Vessels Inspectors and is stamped National Board. In addition to the pressure test required by the ASME Code, the vessel is leak tested after fabrication, using a Feron or Helium leak detector to insure tightness of all seams.

Vaporizer

The vaporizer unit, which is connected to the liquid receiver by two pipelines of suitable size, receives liquid from the receiver at a controlled pressure, usually 175 psig, and converts the liquid to a gas. The vaporizer consists of two separate banks of extended surface tubing connected to a common inlet header and a common outlet header. The liquid gas stream is automatically shifted alternately about every 10 minutes from one bank to the other by solenoid valves in the liquid inlet. The time cycle is established by an adjustable electrically-operated timing clock.

The heat necessary to vaporize the liquid and remove the frost formed on the exchanger tubes is supplied by blowing air at ambient temperature over the tube banks. The fan is driven by an electric motor.

The vaporizers used are of various sizes, depending on the demand requirements and ambient temperature likely to prevail. The same general type of construction is used in all the vaporizers regardless of size or source of supply, in that ambient air is blown over the tubes containing the liquid.

Attached to the receiver unit and mounted in the upper part of a locked cabinet there is a pressure gauge for indicating the pressure in the receiver; and a liquid level gauge for indicating the liquid level in the receiver. In the cabinet there is also a vacuum gauge for indicating the pressure in the insulating space surrounding the receiver and the control valves and connections used in filling and discharging the unit.

Over-pressurizing is prevented by safety valves set at the design pressure or less, and further protection of the receiver is provided by a frangible disc designed to rupture at a pressure less than the test pressure. The outside shell, designed to operate at vacuum, is protected against internal pressure by a safety head designed to function at less than 5 psig.

The Airco Liquid Gas System is intended for outdoor installation and is to be filled by means of approved tank trucks.

INSPECTION AND TEST: All details were examined by Ass't. Engr. G. F. Sklenarik.

RECOMMENDATION: The Committee recommends the approval of the Airco Liquid Gas System, Models 30, 60 and 120 for the storage of liquid oxygen, nitrogen or argon in New York City under the provisions of Article 17, Chapter 19, Administrative Code, on condition that the storage vessels in all cases will be installed outdoors where permitted by law and that, in the case of liquid oxygen storage, a clearance of at least 25 feet in all directions from the sides and top of the storage vessel shall be maintained and no smoking, open flames or storage of combustible materials permitted in the storage area; that in any case of liquid nitrogen or argon storage and in cases of storage of liquid oxygen on industrial sites, the minimum clearance between storage vessel and adjacent structures may be 5 feet if the walls are fire resistive in construction and with no openings in the walls within 25 feet of the storage vessel unless such openings lead to rooms used exclusively for the storage of oxygen, nitrogen or argon and/or the charging of cylinders or suitable containers with oxygen, nitrogen or argon in which case the distance from storage vessel to wall opening may be reduced to 10 feet; that all piping from the storage vessel and within the building be as required by the Fire Department; that each installation will be serviced and periodically inspected by specially trained personnel holding certificates of fitness issued by the Fire Department; that all electrical work will be in accordance with the Electrical Code of the City of New York; and further that each storage installation will bear a label, permanently affixed reading

THE RESOLUTION—

WHEREAS, the report of a Committee on Test reads:

361-59-SA—Westinghouse Electric Corp., New York, filed June 3, 1959 for approval of the Westinghouse Type E Interlock under the provisions of C26-912.0 Administrative Building Code.

USE: Interlock used on horizontal sliding doors of elevator hoistways.

DESCRIPTION: The switch assembly of the interlock is mounted in a fixed position in the hoistway at each door. The drive block and latch assembly is mounted on the hoistway door so that the latch engages the strike on the switch assembly when the door is closed.

A vane on the car door engages the blocks on the drive block and latch assembly. When the car stops at a landing, and the car door starts to open, the vane on the car door pivots the drive block opposite the latch so that the back shoulder of the drive block forces the actuator arm and latch to pivot. This forces the contact bridge on the latch away from the contacts, opening the interlock electrical circuit.

Further pivoting of the actuator arm and latch releases the latch from locking engagement with the strike and permits the hoistway door to open with the car door.

When the car door is being closed, the vane acting on the other drive block carries the hoistway door to the closed position, where the latch shoe rides over the strike and the latch engages, locking the door. As the latch bumper comes to rest against the strike, the contact bridge closes the electrical circuit.

The car door maintains the interlock in the open position by means of the vane acting on the drive block and latch assembly which carries the contact bridge.

The interlock is maintained in the closed position by the compression spring assembly.

The contact bridge is rigidly attached to the latch assembly so that the door cannot be unlocked without opening the interlock electrical circuit.

INSPECTION AND TEST: The interlock was successfully tested in accordance with the requirements of C26-907.0 through C26-913.0 Administrative Building Code at the Underwriters' Laboratory. The complete report is on file with and is part of the record.

RECOMMENDATION: The Committee on Test recommends the approval of the Westinghouse Type E Interlock for use in New York City under the provisions of C26-907 through C26-913.0 Administrative Building Code, on condition that the interlock bear a label permanently affixed, reading "Approved by the Board of Standards and Appeals for use in New York City under Calendar Number 361-59-SA," and in addition the information required in C26-913.0 Administration Building Code.

WHEREAS, the report of a Committee on Test reads:
514-59-SA—Cambridge, Co., Div. of Standard Steel Corp., Lowell, Mass., filed August 3, 1959 for approval of their Liquid Oxygen, Nitrogen or Argon Cambridge Liqua-Guard Customer Converters, Models 125-250, 60-220, 115-260, 145-260, 180-260 and 260-260 under the provisions of Article 17, Chapter 19, Administrative Code.

USE: To store liquefied oxygen, nitrogen or argon and to supply such gases under pressure to distribution systems.

DESCRIPTION: The tanks are double walled vessels with the intervening space insulated by means of vacuum and inert powder. The inner tanks are made of stainless steel or other special metal suitable for pressure vessels at minus 300°F provided it meets the impact test requirements of the ASME code. The inner tanks are designed and constructed in accordance with the ASME code for pressure vessels and so tested. The steel outer tanks are also designed in accordance with the ASME code but not so stamped, because of the vacuum operation condition. They are provided with relief devices set at 2 to 5 psig.

Two piping circuits with appropriate controls are located in a cabinet mounted on the tank jacket. One control circuit admits liquefied gas into a vaporizer coil usually located under the tank jacket. The coil is heated by ambient temperature and the gas formed discharged through a regulator into the vapor space above the liquid in the inner tank. This regulator is set to maintain the desired tank operating pressure, usually 125 to 175 psig. The second control circuit admits liquefied gas to the main vaporizer, a finned tube coil or vertical aluminum tube plates or panels and discharges through a regulator into the supply line at a pressure between 50 and 100 psig. For heavy demand a hot water vaporizer oil is available.

The inner tanks are protected by a safety valve and burst disc set in accordance with ASME code requirements. The outer jacket is protected by a disc or lightly spring loaded plate to release at less than 5 psig internal pressure. All piping in the control circuits and vaporizers is protected by safety valves located between valves or regulators.

The control cabinet contains a liquid level gauge to indicate the amount of liquid in the tank. A pressure gauge is provided for the liquid receiver and another gauge to indicate the delivery pressure into the customer's pipe line. A vacuum gauge is provided for the insulation space.

These converters are to be installed outdoors and are designed to be filled by approved tank trucks. The construction details are:

THE RESOLUTION—

WHEREAS, the report of a Committee on test reads:

738-59-SA—Ryan Industries Inc., Cleveland, Ohio, filed November 12, 1959 for approval of their liquid Oxygen, Nitrogen or Argon Customer Station Converters: Models 337 Gallons, 600 Gallons, 1200 Gallons and 2400 Gallons for use in New York City under the provisions of Article 17, Chapter 19, Administrative Code.

USE: To store liquefied oxygen, nitrogen or argon and to supply such gases under pressure to distribution systems.

DESCRIPTION: The converters are double walled vessels with the space between outer jacket and tank filled with powder insulation and kept under vacuum. The tank which contains the liquefied gas is fabricated from stainless steel or other special metal suitable for pressure vessels at—300° F. that will meet the impact test requirements of the ASME code. The tank, cylindrical or spherical, is designed and constructed in accordance with the ASME Unfired Pressure Vessel Code for a working pressure of 200 psi for the 337 gallon model and 245 psi for the others. The test pressure is 323 psi and 390 psi respectively.

The outer steel jacket is designed in accordance with ASME code requirements but is not so stamped because it operates under vacuum. It is provided with relief devices set to release any internal pressure at 2 to 5 psig.

Two control and piping circuits are located in a cabinet mounted on the tank jacket. One control circuit admits liquid into a vaporizer coil generally located under the tank jacket. This coil is heated by ambient air and discharges through a gas regulator into the vapor space above the liquid in the inner vessel. This regulator is set to maintain the desired tank operating pressure which is usually between 125 and 175 psig, depending upon the customer's requirement.

The second main control circuit admits liquid to the main vaporizer which also heats the vapor to near ambient temperatures. A gas regulator following this vaporizer controls the flow through the vaporizer and maintains the pressure in the pipe line to the customer's operations. This regulator is usually set at some pressure between 50 and 100 psig, depending on the requirements of the customer's operations. Heat for the main vaporizer is supplied by ambient air. This main vaporizer may be a finned tube coil under the tank jacket or vertical aluminum tube plates or panels. Generally no electric power is required to operate these appliances, except in case of a heavy customer use where a hot water heated vaporizer coil may be used and the hot water obtained by an electric immersion heater.

The inner tank is protected by a safety valve set at 195 psi for the 337 gallon model and 240 psi for the larger models. Also a rupture disc is provided on each tank set at 300 psi and 370 psi respectively. All piping in the control circuits and vaporizers is protected by safety valves between all control and hand valves or regulators.

The control cabinet contains a liquid level gauge to indicate the amount of liquid in the tank. Pressure gauges are provided for the tank and pipeline and a vacuum gauge is provided for the insulation space.

These converters are to be installed outdoors and are to be filled by means of approved tank trucks.

INSPECTION AND TEST: All details were examined by Ass't. Engr. G. F. Sklenarik.

RECOMMENDATION: The Committee recommends the approval of the Ryan Liquid Oxygen, Nitrogen or Argon Customer Station Converters, Models 337 Gallons, 600 Gallons, 1200 Gallons and 2400 Gallons for use in New York City under the provisions of Article 17, Chapter 19, Administrative Code, on condition that the converters in all cases will be installed outdoors where permitted by law and that, in the case of liquid oxygen storage, a clearance of at least 25 feet in all directions from the sides and top of the converters shall be maintained and no smoking, open flames or storage of combustible material permitted in the storage area; that in any case of liquid nitrogen or argon storage and in cases of oxygen storage on an industrial site, the minimum clearance between converter and adjacent structures may be 5 feet if the walls are fire resistive in construction and with no openings within 25 feet of the converter unless such openings lead to rooms used exclusively for the storage of oxygen, nitrogen or argon and/or the charging of cylinders or suitable containers with oxygen, nitrogen or argon in which case the distance from converters to wall opening may be reduced to 10 feet; that all piping from the converter and within the building will be as required by the Fire Department; that each installation will be serviced and periodically inspected by specially trained personnel holding certificates of fitness issued by the Fire Department; that all electrical work will be in accordance with the Electrical Code of the City of New York and further that each converter installation will bear a label, permanently affixed, reading "Approved by the Board of Standards and Appeals for use in New York City under Calendar Number 738-59-SA."

4.1.1 Spray, dip and immersing rooms shall be enclosed on all sides with partitions constructed of incombustible materials with floors in such rooms of concrete. Where such rooms are located over wooden floors, such wooden floors shall be surfaced with 1" of grout adequately reinforced or a mixture of Portland cement, and sand similarly reinforced. Ceilings over such rooms shall be protected by 5/8" unsanded gypsum plaster or 7/8" of cement or sanded gypsum plaster on approved 3.0 lb metal lath or other equivalent fire resisting ceiling protection. Ventilation, lighting and heating for these rooms shall comply with the requirements of these rules. Where additional fire fighting equipment is necessary such equipment shall be furnished in accordance with the direction of the Fire Commissioner. Floor drains leading to the house draining system or the public sewer shall not be permitted. Dip tanks shall be provided with hinged metal covers held open by a fusible link, such covers to be equipped with an opening to permit automatic flooding of the tank with fire extinguishing media of a type and so located as the Fire Commissioner shall direct. Where the work process, such as conveyorized operation, makes the use of a cover impractical, the dip tank and drain boards shall be protected by an adequate extinguishing system designed for manual and automatic operation satisfactory to the Fire Commissioner and such conveyor shall be interlocked with the extinguishing system so that in the event the extinguishing system is activated, the conveyor action shall be stopped.

4.1.2 Panels of polished wired glass or plate-glass at least one-quarter (1/4) of an inch thick, not exceeding seven hundred and twenty (720) square inches in area and not more than forty-eight (48") inches in any linear dimension may be used in the sides of a spray booth or room.

4.1.3 The inner sides of walls, ceilings and the floors of all spraying or dipping spaces shall have a smooth surface.

4.1.4 All openings in spray, dip or immersing rooms shall be protected by fireproof opening protective assemblies. Windows opening on a street may be used to provide ventilation but no window on a lot line or less than 20 ft. from any opening in a wall of an adjacent building shall be permitted except when the subject room is more than 20 ft., in the horizontal plane, above an adjoining building.

4.1.5 Ferrous metals used in the construction of spraying, dipping or immersing spaces shall be thoroughly painted on the inside or be galvanized.

4.1.6 All spraying, dipping or immersing spaces shall be so constructed that at least three (3) feet of clear working space shall always be maintained for each operator spraying, dipping or immersing the material being processed.

4.2 STORAGE ROOMS.

4.2.1 Storage rooms shall be constructed of fireproof or fire resisting material and shall have a window opening to the outer air but such window shall not be on a lot line, enclosed court, nor opposite within twenty feet of windows of adjacent buildings nor part of the same premises, such window openings to be fireproofed and lower half provided with open louvers or ventilated by metal duct or fan at least 8 inches in diameter. The floors of all storage rooms shall be of incombustible non-ferrous materials. The sill of the door shall be at least 6 inches above the finished floor. All doors to be tin-clad, approved, fireproof and self-closing.

RULES

The lighting equipment shall comply with rule 4.5.2.2 and shall have an electric switch located outside the room. Immediately adjacent to such room shall be provided such portable fire extinguishing equipment for use within the storage room as the Fire Commissioner shall direct.

4.3 DRYING EQUIPMENT.

4.3.1 Gas Fired Drying Ovens. Gas fired drying ovens shall be of a type as approved by the Board. Such ovens shall be constructed of metal and incombustible materials so designed as to preclude the direct application of flame to the materials in process. Ventilation shall be provided for each oven of sufficient capacity to maintain an oven vapor concentration at all times during the drying process of less than  $\frac{1}{4}$  the low explosive limit of the solvent used. All oven openings shall be maintained at a negative pressure relative to room pressure for inward flow. The controls for the safety exhaust and recirculating fans shall be properly interlocked with the gas supply line so that when the gas is flowing the fans are in operation. A time delay relay shall be installed to provide a minimum of four oven volume changes with fresh air and in the case of an indirect fired type of oven simultaneous purging of the combustion chamber before the ignition system can be energized and gas flow started. Each oven shall be equipped with gas burning equipment approved for such use and with electrical controls so arranged as to shut off the gas valve when ignition fails or the gas supply pressure drops to 2 inches of water.

The use of a continuous gas pilot light is prohibited unless an automatic gas shut off valve is provided which will shut the gas off at the pilot light when the flame is extinguished or the supply of gas cut off. Electrical pilot ignition shall be of the continuous type or equal in performance, designed for use in high temperatures, with controls so interlocked as to shut off the gas supply when current is interrupted. An auxiliary manually operated gas shut off valve shall be located not nearer than 25 feet from the oven so as to control the gas supply in the event of an emergency. Such ovens shall be adequately insulated on all sides and top to limit the maximum surface temperature to 140°F and to 160°F on the base, unless the floor is protected by a 3 inch mat of reinforced concrete placed over and bonded into the existing concrete floor and projecting not less than 6 inches outside the projected area of the equipment or unless an unenclosed clear air space not less than 4 inches above the concrete floor is maintained between the floor and the underside of the oven.

4.3.1.1 The burner section of gas fired drying ovens shall not be located nearer than 25 feet from spraying or dipping spaces except when separated by fire proof construction, in which case the distance between burner section and spray or dip space shall be not less than 25 feet measured in the shortest line of travel.

4.3.2 ELECTRIC INFRA-RED RAY DRYING OVENS.

4.3.2.1 Electric Infra Red Ray Drying Ovens shall be of a type as approved by the Board. Such ovens shall be constructed of electric equipment installed in accordance with the National Electric Code and the requirements of the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity. Ovens when erected shall be placed on concrete floors without any additional protection, provided that at least 12 inches of clear space above the floor is provided to permit adequate ventilation.

4.3.2.1.1 In drying processed material involving the evaporation of considerable amounts of flammable solvents by infra-red lamps, such installations shall not be confined in small rooms unless such rooms are thoroughly ventilated by a power driven ventilation system of sufficient capacity to maintain a vapor concentration at all times during the drying process of less than  $\frac{1}{4}$  the low explosive limit of the solvent used; the controls of the ventilation system to be so interlocked with the Infra-Red Ray System that the latter cannot function unless the ventilating system is in operation. When equipped with duct ventilating system, the Infra-Red Ray Oven shall be adequately secured so as to prevent moving.

4.3.2.1.2 Where the evaporation of a considerable amount of flammable vapors are involved, ventilated hoods located as near to the floor as practicable or enclosures shall be provided at the initial stage of the process with adequate exhaust system to discharge the primary evaporation from the solvents to the outer air, so that when the processed material progresses through the lamp drying tunnels only a comparatively small amount of solvent is left for evaporation. A space between such ventilating section and the drying section shall be maintained.

4.3.2.1.3 Lamps and other electrical equipment shall be kept free from flammable deposits and adequate cleaning shall be maintained.

4.3.2.1.4 Lamp and resistance heater type drying units shall be separated from spraying and dipping processes complying with these rules by a distance of at least 15 feet or shall be installed in a separate fireproof room.

4.3.2.1.5 Controls shall be arranged so that the lamps in the tunnels will be shut off automatically if and when the conveyor stops.

4.3.2.1.6 Where there are no conveyors and the material being processed is left stationary in the dryer there shall be an excessive temperature switch to shut off the lamps or resistance heaters to avoid overheating the material being processed if it is not removed from the dryer in time.

4.3.2.1.7 Material to be processed on the conveyors shall be rigidly supported so as not to be liable to displacement and cause lamp breakage and short circuits. Where there are no conveyors, materials should be fixed on dollies running on tracks or other equivalent method to accomplish the same result.

RULES

4.3.3 The temperature of the air contacting the processed material or of the material itself shall not be higher than that to which such material can be safely subjected.

4.3.4 Such fire fighting equipment suitable for electrical and solvent vapor fires shall be provided as the Fire Commissioner may direct.

4.4.2 Ducts shall be strongly constructed and be installed in a workmanlike manner. They shall be rigidly supported.

4.4.3 Ventilating ducts shall run as directly as practicable to the outer air and be protected with a hood against the weather. The exhaust terminal or hood shall also be protected with a screen of copper or bronze with a mesh not larger than one-quarter ( $\frac{1}{4}$ ") inch.

4.4.4 Where a duct passes through a non-fireproof floor or roof, the duct shall be protected at such point by an outer pipe or sleeve with an air space of at least one (1") inch between the sleeve and pipe protected from the woodwork by at least a 1" blanket of asbestos, compressed rockwool or glasswool, or equivalent fire-resistive material extending through the entire depth of the ceiling construction and adequately secured to the outer pipe. The outer pipe shall be not less than two (2") inches from any woodwork and such woodwork shall be covered with at least 26 gauge metal or other incombustible material.

4.4.5 Ventilating ducts shall not terminate within ten (10) feet measured horizontally of any chimney outlet, unprotected air intakes or within twenty (20) feet of any exit or any opening in an adjoining building.

4.4.6 If induced draft is used to create an air movement, the air shall be supplied from a point outside the spray or dip or immersing space. Fans and motor must be located outside the spray, or dip space, except approved explosion-proof motor and non-ferrous blade fans which, however, are not to be located where residues of spraying material may collect on such equipment.

4.4.7 The exhaust system from any spray, dip or immersing space shall not be connected to any other ventilating system or be discharged into a chimney or flue used for the purpose of conveying gases of combustion.

4.4.8 Exhaust fan blades shall be constructed of non-ferrous metal. All exhaust and ventilating fans to be permanently connected to their source of power, using metallic conduit. Rheostats in fan bases not permitted. Fan blades not coming in direct contact, with spraying fumes, need not comply with this requirement.

4.4.9 Adequate access doors or panels have tight fitting by means of screw bolts, clamps or springs shall be provided, to permit inspection and cleaning.

4.5 ELECTRICAL EQUIPMENT AND LIGHTING FIXTURES.

4.5.1 No motors, switches, rheostats, lamps, fluorescent light or other electrical equipment shall be located in spray, dipping or immersing rooms or within ten (10') feet of the open end of any spray compartment, spray booth, immersing or dipping space unless such electrical equipment be of a type approved for use in explosive atmosphere and where a conduit leads from a hazardous location to a non-hazardous location, the conduit shall be sealed off by an approved sealing compound. Except that alternating current induction motors of the totally enclosed type, having no brushes make and break contacts, collectors or other arcing or sparking parts may be located within ten (10') feet of a spray booth, spray compartment or dipping space when approved by the administrative official having jurisdiction. No open flame shall be used within 25 ft. of spray, dip or coating space or paint storage room or cabinet except when separated by fireproof construction, except as provided in Rule 4.3.1. Gas Fired Drying Ovens and 4.3.2.1.4 Electric Infra Red Dry Ovens.

4.5.2 Lighting Fixtures.

4.5.2.2 When lighting fixtures are located within 10 feet of a spray booth, spraying space, dipping space or within a storage room they shall be of the rigid stem type, enclosing all wiring and be equipped with keyless sockets having vapor proof globes. Where exposed to breakage, globes shall be adequately protected by substantial metal guards or equivalent means. Fluorescent tube type lighting fixtures when used in spray booths or in spray and dip spaces or in storage rooms or rooms containing inflammable vapors, shall be of a type approved for use in explosive atmospheres. The auxiliaries of mercury vapor lamps shall be offset at least ten (10) feet from spray booth, spray or dip spaces unless enclosed in explosion-proof protection.

4.5.2.3 All electrical equipment shall be installed and grounded as provided by the Administrative Code covering electrical equipment and permanently connected to their source of current supply, using metallic conduit.

4.5.2.4 No pin plug receptacles shall be used except when the use of receptacles and attachment plugs become necessary they shall be so connected to form a part of a unit device with explosion-proof interlocking switch precluding the removal of the plug when the switch is in the "on" position or by an approved explosion-proof enclosure which can seal the arc when the current is interrupted. Such receptacles and plugs shall be of the polarized type providing a connection for the grounding wire of the portable cords.

THE RESOLUTION—

WHEREAS, this matter is remanded to the Board, by order of the Court, to make findings of fact in support of whatever determination it may reach upon the evidence received in connection with intervenor's application with leave to any party appearing on said application to introduce further evidence; and

WHEREAS, this application was reopened as Vol. II, Part II on December 8, 1959, subject to regular procedure, and set for hearing January 12, 1960 at 10 A.M.; and

WHEREAS, a public hearing was held on this application on January 12, 1960 after due notice by publication in the Bulletin; laid over to February 9, 1960 for continued hearing; applicant and objectors to file briefs; then laid over to February 24, 1960 for inspection and decision; hearing closed; and

WHEREAS, the district maps accompanying the Zoning Resolution show that the site is in a residence use, B area, class 1½ height district; that from July 25, 1916 until October 9, 1947 the premises were in a business use district; that there is no proposed change in zoning pending before the City Planning Commission at this time; and

WHEREAS, the decision of the Borough Superintendent, dated August 31, 1954 acting on Alt. Applic. No. 888-54, reads:

"3. Proposal to change the use of part of the combined structure from residence to commercial use and other parts of the combined structure from one commercial use to another commercial use is contrary to Art. II Sect. 3 and Sect. 6 of the Zon. Resol."

and

WHEREAS, the applicant states that the premises consist of a plot, 100 feet frontage by 100.42 feet in depth, on which there are four integrated buildings; that the building known as 215 East 64th Street, Block 1419, Lot 10, is a two story non-fireproof building, erected in 1878, and since 1915 it has been occupied as a dyeing and dry cleaning establishment for which Certificate of Occupancy No. 15935 was issued on December 17, 1929 authorizing its continued use as a dyeing and dry cleaning establishment; that under Alt. Applic. No. 3298-35, a third story was added to be occupied for office, storage and factory use on not more than 25% of the area of said story, but no new Certificate of Occupancy was applied for or obtained; that it is proposed to extend, for a period of five years, the term of a variance previously granted by the Board for a temporary period of two years under Cal. No. 576-37-BZ on March 6, 1956, in order to continue the use of the premises as a dyeing and dry cleaning establishment, with accessory uses; that on November 19, 1957, the Board did extend the term of the variance for five years, but the New York Life Insurance Company, and another, had this decision set aside on technical and procedural grounds, and a new hearing ordered, and that decision was affirmed by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court;

"The Appellate Division opinion directed only that 'the Board supply its grounds for granting an extension' and this presentation is made without prejudice to the applicant's position that that is all that the Board need now do."

and

WHEREAS, the applicant further states that in an affidavit made by the late Hon. Harris H. Murdock June 20, 1958, which was filed in the court case concerning the approved extension of the term of the variance, he stated in part as follows:

"the Building Department evidently approved the alteration upon the theory that it did not violate the purpose and the intent of the Zoning Ordinance although no Certificate of Occupancy was issued."

that also in this same affidavit, Chairman Murdock, in reciting the facts, findings and conclusions upon which the Board granted the extension of the term of the variance, stated among the twenty-three conclusions, as follows:

"(G) The dyeing and dry cleaning business on the first and second story of the building at 215 East 64th Street was lawfully established before the adoption of the Zoning Ordinance and was therefore lawfully maintained; the enlargement of said business by the addition of a third story to said building in 1935 was technically in violation of the Zoning Ordinance, but the incidental uses of the third story were in themselves conforming in a business district, namely office, storage and factory use limited to 25% of the area of the floor."

WHEREAS, the applicant further states that under Alt. Applic. No. 1174-47, the Department of Buildings authorized the construction of a conveyor passage connecting the second story of premises 215 to the third story of premises 221 East 64th Street; that from these facts, it is clear that the owner of the premises 215 East 64th Street, Benjamin J. Denihan, Inc., has a vested right to occupy the premises as a dyeing and dry cleaning establishment on the first and second stories and to maintain an office, storage and factory not exceeding 25% of the third floor, on the third floor; and

WHEREAS, the applicant states that the premises known as 223 East 64th Street is not part of this appeal but it is of interest to note that the owner of this building, Deborah E. Dumont, sister of the owner of Benjamin J. Denihan, Inc., also has a vested interest to continue the occupancy of this building as an office, warehouse and factory as indicated on Certificate of Occupancy 43840; that this appeal is therefore primarily concerned with permitting the continued use of the three buildings located between these other two buildings having legal non-conforming uses, to be used for a term of five additional years, conjunctively with the building located at 215 East 64th Street, as a dyeing and dry cleaning establishment; that these three buildings are known as 217, 219 and 221 East 64th Street; and

WHEREAS, the applicant states that the building at 217 East 64th Street in Block 1419, Lot 11, was erected in 1884 as a two story non-fireproof building; that the first story was used as a stable and then was converted to a factory; that under Alt. Applic. No. 1953-25, the use was changed from factory to garage for not more than five cars and Certificate of Occupancy No. 16522 was issued on June 16, 1930; that in the same year, N.B. Applic. No. 13-30 was approved for the erection of a one story brick building at the rear of the premises; that in 1937, an application for a zoning variance, to include an ignition repair shop on the first floor of this building, was filed with the Board under Cal. No. 576-37-BZ and the zoning variance was granted, limiting the first floor to light automobile repairs and the second story to a one family dwelling, for which Certificate of Occupancy No. 23615-38 was issued May 16, 1938; that the building known as 219 East 64th Street, in Block 1419, Lot 12, is a very old, one story, non-fireproof building, but the date of erection is not ascertainable; that records in the Department of Buildings disclose that the building was used for many years, even before 1900, as a stable, and in 1930, the stable use was changed to a garage for not more than five motor vehicles under Alt. Applic. No. 277-30, for which Certificate of Occupancy No. 16522 was issued June 16, 1930; that the building known as 221 East 64th Street, in Block 1419, Lot 13, is a three story, non-fireproof building, date of erection not recorded in the Department of Buildings; that the first record concerns Alt. Applic. No. 699-28 which was approved, authorizing the use of the first floor as a garage for five motor vehicles, and the second and third stories for storage and factory; and

WHEREAS, the applicant states that Benjamin J. Denihan, now deceased, carried on the dyeing and dry cleaning business in 215 East 64th Street since 1915; that on January 11, 1929, his wife, Julia M. Denihan, acquired title to the building and obtained Certificate of Occupancy No. 15935-29; that soon after the outbreak of the Second World War, Mr. Denihan received extensive contracts from both the United States Army and Navy, and in order to perform these contracts, expanded to the adjoining premises; that on April 12, 1943, premises 217, 219 and 221 East 64th Street were acquired by Deborah E. Dumont, his daughter, and sister of the present owners of the dyeing and dry cleaning establishment; that extensive equipment was located in these newly acquired buildings in order to fulfill the government orders; that Benjamin J. Denihan evidently thought that his expansion into these adjacent business buildings was lawful; that various permits were issued by the Fire Department approving the installation of the new equipment and no violations were filed by the Department of Buildings; that in fact, Chairman Murdock, in the affidavit previously referred to, had this to say concerning the expansion of the dyeing and dry cleaning business into those adjoining buildings:

"The alterations and changes made in connection with the expansion and enlargement of the dyeing and dry cleaning business to the adjoining premises at 217, 219 and 221 East 64th Street, were gradually made during the period of World War II for the purpose of accommodating the United States Army and Navy; none of the buildings on the subject premises was enlarged during this period; that changes were made by integrating and combining the existing structures into an integral operation to meet the increased demands of the military branches for the dyeing and dry cleaning services; any additional machinery was installed in order to promptly accommodate the requirements of the federal government; the changes made in the use of the existing buildings at premises 217, 219 and 221 East 64th Street were not substantial in character; aside from the residence on the second floor of the building at 217 East 64th Street, the changes were from garages and repair shop to incidental parts of a dyeing and dry cleaning establishment; these changes and alterations were made during the war period without any apparent objection from the city departments charged with enforcing the zoning restrictions; at the termination of World War II and with the cessation of government contracts, the owners of the dyeing and dry cleaning business had on their hands an existing integrated plant occupying the combined four structures on the subject premises; the conditions and circumstances attending the enlargement and expansion of the dyeing and dry cleaning business during World War II would have established an unquestionable basis for the granting of a zoning variance at that time; the continued operation of the dyeing and dry cleaning business after World War II did not unreasonably interfere with the surrounding properties."

WHEREAS, the applicant states that the propriety of the Board, approving an extension of this variance for an additional period of five years, was completely answered by Chairman Murdock in his affidavit of June 20, 1958 wherein he stated as follows:

"The Board of Standards and Appeals determined that there was no material change in the circumstances and conditions in the block, of which the subject premises is a part, or in the street, from those that existed at the time of the original grant less than two years previously. Predicated upon its experience in these matters, the Board determined that it would be idle to grant only a two year temporary extension; this would require the applicant to return in a relatively short period of time for another two year extension. In the light of all the foregoing and the insubstantial change of conditions in the immediate area surrounding the subject premises, the Board determined that a temporary period of five years was not only reasonable but justified."

that in addition, the Board in its bulletin dated December 10, 1959, in its resume of the court decision in this matter aptly stated in part as follows:

"On March 6, 1956, the Board after exhaustive hearing and report granted a variance under section 7(c) for a term of two years, the short term being purposely selected for the reasons as stated in the report. The Board had in mind a longer term after it was ascertained that the violations had been taken care of and dismissed and a Certificate of Occupancy issued."

and

WHEREAS, the applicant contends, in further support of the extension of the term of the variance, that the affected area, instead of becoming more residential, has in reality become more commercial; that all the residence buildings along the south side of East 65th Street from Second Avenue to Third Avenue have been demolished, and the entire block is now used for non-conforming garage and commercial parking lots; that under Cal. No. 128-55-BZ, the New York Life Insurance Company applied to the Board for a variance to permit the parking of more than five motor vehicles in a residence district for a plot 75 feet by 100.2 feet in Block 1419, Lots 35, 36 and 37, for a period of three years; that the Board granted this variance October 11, 1955 on condition that a woven wire fence, 5 feet 6 inches high, be erected completely enclosing the lot, except for entrances and exits; that Certificate of Occupancy No. 44956 was issued and expired October 11, 1958; that belatedly, on October 27, 1958, after the three year period had elapsed, and without public notice to any of the affected property owners, the New York Life Insurance Company requested an extension of the term of the variance for an additional three years; that the Board granted the extension November 18, 1958; that however, without obtaining a new Certificate of Occupancy and instead of conforming to the conditions of the variance, the New York Life Insurance Company, without the approval of the Board, has expanded the commercial parking lot so that it now has a 430 foot frontage on East 65th Street, by 100 feet in depth, and, in addition, has been expanded 75 feet by 100 feet facing East 64th Street; that the New York Life Insurance Company also applied to the Board regarding premises 1103-1109 Third Avenue and 200-204 East 65th Street, to extend a parking lot for more than five motor vehicles into a residence district; that the Board, on December 16, 1952, granted a variance for a period of five years, but although the variance expired over two years ago, the commercial parking lot is still being operated in a residence district, contrary to the Zoning Resolution and contrary to Certificate of Occupancy No. 41155 which expired November 25, 1957; that only two commercial buildings, a loft building at 225 East 64th Street and a garage at 227-229 East 64th Street, have been demolished, but instead of using the property for residential purposes, it is now being used by the New York Life Insurance Company for illegal commercial parking; that the New York Life Insurance Company now owns the entire square block from East 64th Street to East 65th Street, from Third to Second Avenues—Block 1419—except for Lots 10, 11, 12, 13 and 14; that the New York Life Insurance Company, therefore, owns 89.8% of this square block, consisting of 122,000 square feet; that instead of improving the area with residential buildings, it continues to occupy approximately 63,375 square feet for commercial parking, 33,000 square feet for public garage and auto sales use and only 13,125 square feet for residential use, and even this 13,125 square feet is used for business use on the first floor; and

WHEREAS, the applicant further contends that all the commercial uses on the south side of East 64th Street, between Third and Second Avenues remain—in fact, there is only one tenement house in this entire block; that there are only four residential buildings in the affected area and these four, northeast corner of East 64th Street and Third Avenue, northwest corner of East 64th Street and Third Avenue, southwest corner of East 64th Street and Third Avenue and 236 East 64th Street, have commercial occupancies on the first floor; that the High School for the Aviation Trades, located opposite the dry cleaning establishment has been discontinued and the building is now vacant; that Dr. David H. Moskowitz, Associate Superintendent of Schools, stated in a letter to the Board, dated January 6, 1956, that it was the intention of the Board of Education to abandon its use for school purposes upon the completion of the new High School for the Aviation Trades in Queens; that this new High School has now been completed and is occupied; that the Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, located at 208-16 East 64th Street, has been located amidst these sundry business and industrial uses since 1905, and at no time did they make any complaint concerning the dyeing and dry cleaning plant until this appeal was initiated; that in fact, the former President, Mr. Baker, in a letter to the Board, dated May 15, 1955, consented to the expansion of this dry cleaning plant as proposed; that the new President, in an affidavit dated January 3, 1956, objected to the granting of this variance on the grounds of odors, noise, dust, risk of fire and unsightliness of the buildings, although no proof of offensive odors or other nuisances was submitted; that in fact, he admitted the two metal stacks were 150 feet north of the hospital; that he also stated that this use was detrimental to the residents of the Old Law Tenements north of the dry cleaning plant and to the students of the Baron de Hirsch Trade School; that all the Old Law Tenements have been demolished and the trade school has been abandoned; and

MINUTES

WHEREAS, the applicant requests, based on the foregoing facts, that the Board, under the powers vested in it by Sections 7a, 7e, 7c and 21 of the Zoning Resolution, permit the subject premises, 215-221 East 64th Street, to be used as a dyeing and dry cleaning establishment, together with the incidental uses as provided by Certificate of Occupancy No. 48360, to be continued for an additional five years; and

WHEREAS, the applicant states that the present owners have held title to the property since April 12, 1943 and April 20, 1948; that the assessed valuation of land is $120,000 and of the buildings $35,000 making a total of $155,000; that the buildings were erected in 1878 and 1884; and

WHEREAS, the case was reopened on December 8, 1959 in accordance with the Order of the Court for reconsideration, a new hearing, and the making of findings of fact in support of whatever determination might be reached with leave to any party appearing on the application to introduce further evidence; and

WHEREAS, after due notice by publication in the Bulletin and by special written notice to owners in the affected area, hearings were held on January 12, 1960 and on February 9, 1960 and the Board considered all of the evidence submitted by the interested parties including the new evidence submitted in support of the respective arguments made at the hearings; and

WHEREAS, the hearing was closed on February 9, 1960 and the property was inspected by all members of the Board; and

WHEREAS, the Board makes the following findings:

1. In the face of conflicting and inconclusive evidence, the Board reverts to the fact that, when the variance for a term of two years was granted by resolution adopted on March 6, 1956, it was established that the occupancy and use of the 1st and 2nd floors in 215 East 64th Street for dyeing and dry cleaning was a legal non-conforming use prior to the passage of the Zoning Resolution in 1916, and there was no contradiction of or appeal from this statement at that time. The Board now finds that the use of these two floors at 215 East 64th Street is a legal non-conforming use.

2. The Board finds that the present occupancy as a dyeing and dry cleaning establishment and garage in the remainder of the premises in 215-217-219-221 East 64th Street is not a legal use except as permitted by variance granted by this Board from the requirements of the Zoning Resolution.

3. Since the granting of the variance by resolution adopted on March 6, 1956, the residential use in Block 1419, in which Lots 10, 11, 12 and 13 are situated, has decreased and commercial use for various temporary periods has increased. In the portion of Block 1419 which is zoned for residence, there is no residential occupancy.

In the residential zone on the north side of East 64th Street between 2nd and 3rd Avenues, there is no residential occupancy.

In the residential zone on the south side of East 64th Street between 2nd and 3rd Avenues, there is only one building used as a dwelling at 232 East 64th Street. This building has only 25 foot frontage out of a total of 800 foot frontage in the residence use district.

4. The present commercial use in Block 1419 is largely for garage and parking lots. The former school building on the south side of East 64th Street at No. 222-230 has been abandoned and the property has been sold.

5. On a personal inspection trip by members of the Board, no evidence was found that a nuisance was created in the neighborhood by the dyeing and cleaning business at 215-221 East 64th Street either by air pollution or by traffic congestion. The existence of the plant, however, and its appearance act as a deterrent to the orderly development of the block in conformity with the Zoning Resolution.

6. In 1947, the district in which 215-221 East 64th Street is located was rezoned from a business use district to a residence use district. Since then there has been a movement in the general area to create fine residential buildings. This movement is continuing. The New York Life Insurance Company which owns all of Block 1419, except Lots 10 to 14 inclusive, has stated in its affidavit of objection dated, January 11, 1960, that the Manhattan House Development one block north of this block is an example of the kind of residential development which will take place in this block if the dyeing and dry cleaning establishment is eliminated;

and

WHEREAS, the Board has examined the record heretofore made in this matter and which is more particularly set forth in its answer on file in the Supreme Court under New York County Clerk's Index No. 15100-1957 and reaffirms the reasons contained therein as a basis for the granting of the extension of the period of the zoning variance for a limited time; and

WHEREAS, the Board is of the opinion that the findings, as stated, warrant an extension of the term of the variance granted by the resolution of March 6, 1956, it is the judgment of the Board, however, that to continue the entire non-conforming use indefinitely would be contrary to the general welfare; and

WHEREAS, the Board finds that this is an appropriate case under Section 7e to grant a temporary extension of the variance and that such extension with a definite termination date will be in harmony with the general purpose and intent of the Zoning Resolution, and that an effective termination date will serve as constructive notice to the owners of this property and to the owners of adjacent property that steps may now be taken toward the orderly development of the block for conforming uses.

Resolved, that the Board of Standards and Appeals does hereby amend the resolution adopted on March 6, 1956, only as to the term of the variance, so that as amended it shall read:

"granted under Section 7e for a term of five years from November 19, 1957, on condition that other than as herein amended the resolution above cited shall be complied with in all respects and a new certificate of occupancy shall be obtained and also on condition there shall be no further extension of the term of variance beyond November 19, 1962, and that the entire non-conforming use shall be abandoned and discontinued after that date.

1550-39-SM

APPLICANT—The U. S. Gypsum Company, owner.

APPEARANCES—

For Applicant: William W. Bainbridge.

ACTION OF BOARD—Resolution amended in accordance with the report and recommendation of Committee on Test.

THE VOTE—

Affirmative: Chairman Foley, Vice Chairman Kleinert, Commissioner Sleeper, Commissioner Fox and Commissioner Becker ..... 5

Negative: ..... 0

THE RESOLUTION—

WHEREAS, the report of a Committee on Test reads:

1550-39-SM—Amendment of resolution as to correcting previous approval and additional uses.

The U. S. Gypsum Company, by letter dated June 23, 1958, requested reopening of the resolution adopted under Calendar Number 1550-39-SM on April 2, 1940, and amended December 20, 1949 and corrected in Bulletin 5, Volume 35, amended September 22, 1953, October 5, 1954 and December 17, 1957 to correct this last approval and to approve additional uses. The resolution was reopened by vote of the Board, on September 17, 1958.

The resolution of December 17, 1957, through typographical error, approved the roof insulation as U. S. Gypsum Weatherwood Roof Insulation instead of U. S. Gypsum Roof Insulation, as requested by the applicant.

MINUTES

The applicant requested approval of U. S. Gypsum Company 1/2-inch thick Superstrength Insulating Sheathing Board for use without let in corner braces for application to wood frame buildings by nail or staples and for direct application of shingles and siding to this high strength sheathing.

The applicant also requested approval of the use of U.S.G. Shingle Backer made of USG insulation board under shingles.

USE: The High Strength Sheathing is used as exterior sheathing on Class IV construction and as a nailing base for direct application of siding. The USG Shingle Backer is used under shingles to give shadow lines and extra insulation.

DESCRIPTION: the USG 1/2-inch thick Superstrength Insulating Sheathing Board is manufactured on the same machines and from the same materials as other wood fiber boards, previously approved under this resolution. However, it is compressed to a greater density and is impregnated throughout with asphalt. It is made in sizes 4 feet by 8 feet and 4 feet by 9 feet.

USG Shingle Backer is made of USG Insulation Board, previously approved, and is furnished in 4 foot lengths and in widths of 10 inches to 24 inches in tapered thicknesses.

INSPECTION AND TEST: The USG 1/2-inch thick Superstrength Insulating Sheathing was subjected to a racking test. The panels were tested in an unbraced position. The nailing of the sheathing to the studs was by means of 1 1/2-inch galvanized roofing nails space 3 inches on centers along all joints and the perimeters not less than 3/8-inch from board edge and 6 inches on centers along all intermediate framing (Note: to comply with arbitrary FHA requirements use 2-inch nails).

Nailing by staples was also tested with the same spacing, staples 1 1/2-inch minimum length shank, 7/16-inch minimum crown #16 gauge galvanized wire and crown parallel to the edge of the board.

The boards are applied vertically.

Both panels successfully met the requirements of 6,000 pounds thrust.

A test was also made of the holding power of the sheathing for .099 diameter aluminum wire ring nails 1 3/8 inches long for direct application of shingles and siding. Each nail averaged 45.3 pounds direct pull.

Copies of the racking tests, the nail withdrawal tests, the FHA approval, and the New York State Bureau of State Building Codes approval are in the file and part of the record.

RECOMMENDATION: The Committee on Test recommends that the resolution adopted April 2, 1940 and amended at various times through December 17, 1957 under Calendar Number 1550-39-SM be amended to provide that USG Roof Insulation, previously approved, may be sold under the name of U. S. Gypsum Roof Insulation.

The Committee on Test further recommends that the resolution be further amended to permit the use in New York City of United States Gypsum Company 1/2-inch thick Superstrength Insulating Sheathing Board as an exterior fiber board sheathing on Class IV buildings and further that this material may be used without let in corner braces when applied, as tested and described above.

The Committee further recommends approval of this material for use as a direct nailing base for exterior siding material provided that aluminum wire nails made from .099 in diameter wire with 20 sharp double rings measuring 0.114 inches outside diameter having a smooth needle point about 7/8-inch long minimum are used. For asbestos shingles the nails shall be 1 3/8 inches long, except when a fiberboard shingle backer is used under the shingles the nails shall be 2 inches long; for wood shingles the nails shall be 2 inches long.

The Committee further recommends the approval of USG Shingle-Backer for use under side wall shingles all on condition that the requirements of the resolution adopted April 2, 1940 and as amended at various times through December 17, 1957 under Calendar Number 1550-39-SM be complied with.

THE RESOLUTION—

WHEREAS, the report of a Committee on Test reads:

619-48-SM—Amendment to resolution as to change of ownership.

The United States Gypsum Company requested by letter dated September 11, 1959 that the resolution adopted July 12, 1949 under Calendar Number 619-48-SM be amended as to change of ownership.

The United States Gypsum Company filed affidavits signed by an officer of the company, to the effect that they had purchased the American Rock Wool Corporation, which name would be liquidated.

The United States Gypsum Company requested that the approvals granted to the American Rock Wool Corporation under the above Calendar Number be transferred to the United States Gypsum Company. There will be no change in formulation. Further, that the previous approval given the American Rock Wool Corporation to sell to others and for these others to sell under their own trade name be continued; namely Homart, Wards, Barrett, Carey, Celotex, and others, now to be made by the United States Gypsum Company at the many plants formerly operated by the American Rock Wool Corporation; that the typographical error in previous approvals be corrected to approve fully enclosed batts and blankets, and semi-enclosed batts and blankets, and felted wool in thicknesses of 1/2-inch to 10 inches thickness, in widths of 10 inches to 48 inches and in lengths to 10 feet, as well as loose wool and nodulated wool.

The United States Gypsum Company also requests that the previous approval granted the American Rock Wool Corp. of mineral and/or glass wool fibers made into rigid boards, coated, saturated, or asphalt paper wrapped, for use as perimeter insulation, joint filler, or fire stopping be transferred to the United States Gypsum Company. Further, that the same Rock Wool Fibers, or glass wool fibers, as previously approved may be sold in assembled form under the names of: Thermafiber Industrial Felt; Industrial Felt "HA", Curtain Wall Insulation; Dry Loose Wool; Dry Granulated Wool; Packing Wool; Nodulated Wool; Industrial Loose Rolls; Industrial Batts, open face; Industrial Batts, enclosed; Industrial Batts, single foil; Industrial Batts, double foil; Industrial Batts, reverse flange, reverse vapor barrier batt. The trade name of all these products is "Thermafiber".

RECOMMENDATION: The Committee on Test recommends that the resolution adopted July 12, 1949 under Calendar Number 619-48-SM be amended as to change of ownership, that the United States Gypsum Company may assume the approvals previously granted to the American Rock Wool Corporation.

The Committee on Test further recommends that the United States Gypsum Company may sell to others and the others may sell under their own brand names as follows: Homart, Wards, Barrett, Carey, Celotex, and others, under this Calendar Number previously approved.

USE: To supply temporary heat for construction work.

DESCRIPTION: The Master Space Heaters are portable heaters consisting of a high pressure burner designed for kerosene or No. 1 fuel oil which fires into a stainless steel combustion chamber, fitted with a cone shaped flame diverter. For Applicant: Robert S. Salli.

ACTION OF BOARD—Appliance disapproved.

THE VOTE TO APPROVE—

THE RESOLUTION—

WHEREAS, the report of a Committee on Test reads: 139-59-SA—Mahoney-Clark Inc., for Scheu Products Co., Upland, California, filed March 10, 1959 for approval of the Standard Hy-Lo Salamander under the provisions of C19-151.1 Administrative Code. The application was examined by the engineers of the Board and were of the opinion that the application could not be granted under the provisions of C19-151.1 Administrative Code and C26-146.0 Administrative Building Code. The Board requested an opinion from the Corporation Counsel as to the engineers' interpretation and the Board was advised November 25, 1959 that Judge Strong of the Magistrates Court ruled that the use of this type of equipment was not within the scope of C19-151.1 as the use did not apply to buildings under construction but was intended to apply only to buildings which had been completed.

USE: Temporary heat on construction jobs and for use in plaster and concrete drying.

DESCRIPTION: The salamander may be described as the orange groove or smudge pot type of salamander and consists of a bowl for the fuel oil, cover for the bowl, down draft tube, return gas stack, stack cap, return pipe, flame diffuser, carrying handles, damper, elbow and regulator.

The principle of burning and operation is as follows:

Air entering through the opening in the regulator feeds and maintains a small generating fire on the surface of the oil. This generating fire gasifies the oil in the bowl and this gas rises into the stack where the main combustion takes place. Thus, there are two separate fires. The size of the generating fire determines the amount of gas that is generated. The size of the fire in the stack is therefore dependent upon the size of the generating fire which, in turn, is regulated by the amount of air allowed to enter through the regulator.

MINUTES

INSPECTION AND TEST: The salamander was inspected by Ass't. Engineer J. A. Darts and G. F. Sklenarik.

RECOMMENDATION: The Committee is of the opinion that the HY-LO heater is not acceptable for use as a salamander in construction work for the following reasons:

1. The heaters can be tipped over which would permit the oil fuel to escape from the open stack. An attempt has been made to provide greater stability by providing, as optional equipment, a steel wire stand in which to set the heater.

2. If water should accidentally enter the fuel tank and accumulate therein, it will tend to cause a boil over of the burning oil.

The Committee therefore recommends that the application be disapproved.

(Sgd.) WILLIAM A. NOLAN,
Director,
JOHN A. DARTS,
Assistant Engineer,

DESCRIPTION: The Champ Heater consists of an assembly of a gun type oil burner firing into a steel combustion chamber provided with a steel flame stop at its open end, an electric fan to circulate air around the combustion chamber within a steel shell which, with the combustion gases, is then discharged into the heated area, a steel fuel tank to hold the kerosene or No. 1 fuel oil and a thermostat and safety controls. The entire unit is carried on rubber tired wheels.

The Models 120, 200 and 400 units have heat capacities of 120,000, 200,000 and 400,000 Btu per hour respectively.

INSPECTION AND TEST: A sample heater was inspected by Comm. Kleinert at 15 Mackay Place, Brooklyn, New York. The Model 120 and 200 heaters were tested and approved by Canadian Standards Laboratories when operated in accordance with the manufacturer's instructions.

RECOMMENDATION: The Committee recommends the approval of the Champ Heater, Models 120, 200 and 400 for temporary use in supplying heat for construction work in accordance with this report and the regulations of the Fire Commissioner and Rule 2.7 of the Board's Rules for the Erection, Alteration, Repair, Excavation for and Demolition of Buildings, provided that such heaters will be refueled only when not in operation and then only by means of approved safety cans equipped with a flexible spout that will fit into the fuel tank opening; that all electrical wiring and connections will be in accordance with the Electrical Code of the City of New York; that such heaters shall be so spaced as to allow not over 50,000 Btu heat output per hour for each 1000 square feet of floor area, such area to be adequately ventilated and further that each heater shall bear a label, permanently affixed, reading "Approved by the Board of Standards and Appeals for use in New York City under Calendar Number 424-59-SA."

THE RESOLUTION—

WHEREAS, the report of a Committee on Test reads: 745-59-SM—Pneumercator Co., Inc., New York, N. Y., filed November 17, 1959 for approval of the Pneumercator Tank Gauge, Models BU, BU Special, KU, Fixed U. Adjustable U and LTI under the provisions of Section C19-59.m.5 Administrative Code and the Oil Burner Rules of the Board.

USE: For measuring liquid level in non-pressurized storage tanks.

DESCRIPTION: These gauges operate on the principle of obtaining a balance between the head of liquid in the storage tank and the head of liquid mercury in the gauge. Air is used to transmit the pressure from the tank to the gauge. In addition to the gauge, each installation requires a hand pump for air pressure, a balance chamber placed near the bottom of the storage tank and the necessary tubing for interconnection. A scale on the gauge indicates the depth of liquid in the tank.

The Model BU gauge is designed to measure contents of tanks up to 18 feet in depth. The gauge is equipped with a pivoted indicating column which move through a small arc. A pointer registers with a scale graduated in specific gravity or degrees A.P.I. and is set at the observed gravity of the tank contents. The gauge then indicates the amount of liquid in the tank at that gravity. The gauge scale is graduated in feet and inches of tank depth or in units of volume or both.

The Model BU Special is similar to the BU except that the air pump is mounted on the base of the gauge and is directly connected to it.

The Model KU is a gauge and pump combination designed to measure fuel oil and other petroleum products in storage tanks not exceeding 8 feet in depth. Provision is made to set the gauge for the specific gravity of the liquid in the tank. The scale may be graduated in feet and inches or gallons or both.

The Model Fixed U is made in sizes to measure up to a total head of 60 feet of water or its equivalent. It is recommended for measuring liquids of constant specific gravity. The gauge is equipped with a scale graduated in feet and inches or in units of weight or volume or with any two of such scales.

The Model Adjustable U is used for measurement of liquids of varying specific gravity. It is fitted with a movable indicating column and a pointer which registers on a scale graduated in specific gravity or degrees Baume or A.P.I. The gauge is furnished with a scale graduated in units of depth or volume or may be fitted with both.

The Model LTI gauge is made in various sizes and is a vertical type gauge best suited for measurement of liquids of constant specific gravity where the maximum head does not exceed the equivalent 53 feet of water. It is furnished with a scale graduated in units of depth, weight or volume or with any two of such scales.

INSPECTION AND TEST: All details were examined by Ass't. Engineer G. F. Sklenarik. These gauges were tested and approved by Underwriters' Laboratories under file MH 877.

RECOMMENDATION: The Committee recommends the approval of the Pneumercator Tank Gauge, Models BU, BU Special, KU, Fixed U, Adjustable U and LTI for use in New York City in accordance with this report and the provisions of section C19-59.m.5 Administrative Code, and the Oil Burner Rules of the Board, provided that each gauge shall bear a label, permanently affixed, reading "Approved by the Board of Standards and Appeals for use in New York City under Calendar Number 745-59-SM".
